JAPANESE DETERMINED TO END NAVY TREATY

Germans Plan Terror Ring To Screen War Plans

CANCELLATION OF NATIONAL PACT DECIDED

TOKYO, Nov. 2.—Japan is "determined unalterably" to give formal notice some time between the latter part of November and the end of the year that she will abrogate the Washington naval treaty, a foreign office spokesman said today.

The government, he added, has committed itself, and has given a pledge to the nation that the treaty will be set aside.

It will be impossible to go through the formalities of abrogation until the Emperor and members of the cabinet return to Tokyo, Nov. 18, after completion of the army's annual manoeuvres.

Naturally, the foreign office spokesman said, the conversations of British, American and Japanese at the naval conference in London are receiving careful attention in connection with the decision to set aside the Washington treaty. But it is a foregone conclusion, he asserted, that a notice of abrogation will be issued before the end of the year.

Child's Play to Lop Off Not Less Than 14 Mills in One Lump Says Candidate Clarke.

Given a council determined to back up the mayor, and a mayor pledged to see that taxes in Edmonton are reduced, it will be child's play to lop from 12 to 14 mills from Edmonton's tax rates in 1935 by only one step, the stopping of contributions to the city sinking fund as a temporary measure, stated Joseph A. Clarke, Independent Labor party candidate for mayoralty honors, on Thursday.

His own objective is to cut the mill rate to 40 mills and he declares that there will be no difficulty whatever in doing this if his policies are carried out.

"The mill rate can be cut down immediately in the way I have suggested without in the least impairing the city's financial stability or causing any default on our bonds," he said. "But I would not stop there.

"There are other economies to be effected which would also have a bearing on the mill rate. While I do not believe in touching the wages of the rank and file of the city employees I do believe there should

Mr. Hanson said he and Premier R. B. Bennett had conferred on the matter but that nothing had been decided.

"But in the event of your entering the cabinet what portfolio would you take?" he was asked.

"Rumor says trade and commerce," he answered. "That would suit me all right—I think I could fill the job."

Ruth grinned delightedly as the fans cheered him, finding himself a "king" in this country.

U.S. ADMITS HIGH TARIFF IDEA FUTILE

Secretary of State Hull Declares Nation Now Repenting

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—Admitting the United States had set the "vicious example of high tariffs," Cordell Hull, secretary of state last night declared "we have now repented."

"Extreme nationalism, if persisted in, is destined soon to wreck our entire structure of western civilization," he said in an address read to the foreign trade association by Francis B. Sayre, assistant secretary of state.

Hull rested in Pinehurst, N.C., recovering from bronchial trouble which it was feared might be aggravated by the strain of a long speech.

"In entering upon the negotiation of trade agreements authorized by the act of June 12 of this year, we are willing frankly to admit that we have erred in the past, that we have now repented," Hull's address said.

"Just as we set the vicious example of erecting the trade barriers of high tariffs which induced others to follow us, so now we are asking other nations to join us in an attempt to undo the damage our collective action has worked.

"We wish to break down all the artificial and excessive impediments put in the way of world commerce, not only in our own interest but for the benefit of all others as well, since only by restoring the whole world can individual countries hope to remain economically healthy long."

Sanctity of Contract

An Editorial

Our courts recognize no contracts that are obviously unfair or NOT IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST. There is no such thing as sanctity of contract when our laws provide a Bankruptcy Act to protect an individual against UNPAYABLE DEBTS.

The humbug talk of our sacred duty to pay debts according to the letter of contract is all a smoke screen TO HIDE THE PLUNDERING OF THE PEOPLE THROUGH DEFLATION—"SOUND" MONEY.

Hundreds of millions of tax free, high interest bearing War Loan Bonds were issued by Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance, under Union Government during the war. The scandalous war profits made were provided a safe place for the profiteers TO MAKE AS MUCH AS TWENTY TO THIRTY PER CENT ON THEIR BLOOD MONEY.

PREMIER BENNETT REFUSES TO CHANGE THE TERMS OF THESE BONDS BECAUSE HE STATES THE HONOR OF CANADA IS AT STAKE.

More than a million of our citizens are absolutely destitute and living in hopeless despair on the miserable relief dole. Wages have been ruthlessly cut until some are on a par with the dole. No sanctity of contract on the part of the Bennett Government TO PROTECT THE HOME—THE GREATEST OBLIGATION RESTING ON ANY GOVERNMENT.

The whole debt structure of Canada is being pyramided by usury rates of interest and terms of contract NOT IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST. There is only one thing for our men in public office to do, and that is to state publicly NOT ONE CENT OF INTEREST WILL BE PAID UNTIL THE NEEDS OF THE PEOPLE ARE FIRST TAKEN CARE OF. The hundreds of millions of public debt in Western Canada can never be paid with "sound" money and all thinking men know it. That being so, WHY CONTINUE TO CONFISCATE THE FARMS AND HOMES OF OUR PEOPLE WITH THE PRESENT UNPAYABLE TAXES?

The provincial premiers must demand of Ottawa a complete change of monetary policy or SERVE NOTICE THEY WILL USE THEIR POWERS OF DIRECT ACTION TO SUSPEND, REDUCE, OR CANCEL INTEREST AND DEBTS TO A PAYABLE BASIS IN THE PUBLIC WELFARE.

LABOR SHOWS HEAVY GAINS OVER TORIES

LONDON, Nov. 2—At 5 o'clock this afternoon (noon, E.S.T.) compilation of the voting in municipal elections in London and all England and Wales showed the following results:

Labor gains	526
Conservative losses	405
Losses by Liberals	30
All other losses	91

LONDON, Nov. 2—Labor registered sweeping gains in returns available early today from municipal elections held all over England. The heaviest losses were suffered by the Conservatives.

The results were watched with keen interest because the elections are regarded as an unusually important test of public opinion in view of the probability of a general election next year.

The results in London district showed a strong swing to the Labor side but in many municipalities in that district the turnover still left the municipal reform party ahead. The municipal reform candidates are broadly classified as Conservative.

With 98 results complete throughout England and Wales, the results showed Labor had made 203 gains against eight losses; the Conservatives had gained four and lost 34 and Independents had gained five and lost 74.

With results in 11 London boroughs still to come, the result in London district showed Labor had gained 227 seats and lost one; the Municipal Reform (Conservative) group had lost 210 and gained but one while Independents and others had lost 17.

Visits Daughter

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—Hon. H. H. Stevens left Ottawa this morning and will be back here tonight or tomorrow morning. He is visiting his daughter, Sylvia, ill in the Royal Victoria Hospital.

LONDON, Nov. 2—Inroads made by Labor into strongholds of the Conservatives in municipal elections throughout England and Wales today gave political observers food for thought.

Results from many sections of the country showed that Labor had registered sweeping gains. The outcome in the London district where municipal voting took place for the first time since 1931 was considered of special significance.

Others in 28 London boroughs were balloting in the municipal field for the first time since just after the general elections of three years ago. At that time the overwhelming Conservative strength in the government was reflected also in the municipal arena.

Yesterday's result in the London area showed Labor had gained seats in almost every borough and had wrested control of some boroughs from the municipal reform or Conservative group. In this district the councils were entirely replaced whereas voting outside London—which takes place annually—only affected one-third of the council representation.

FRANCE NOW SHOWS WORRY AT SITUATION

By ALEXANDER H. UHL

PARIS, Nov. 2.—Allegations of Germany's increasing military might today intensified the war scare gripping France. Indignation persisted in Germany at France's reported intention to occupy the Saar region if called on by the League of Nations' governing commission to do so.

In great measure the fear of conflict, which overshadowed All Saints' day pilgrimage of the French people to the graves of their war and evil dead, was based on belief the approaching plebiscite in the Saar might set off an international explosion.

For the first time since the war, the French apparently were not so confident of the crushing superiority of their army; leading Minister of War Henri Petain to seek urgent re-enforcements for the nation's weapons of defence.

Violent reaction in the German press to the announcement that French troops are ready to enter the Saar if the League of Nations' commission governing that region calls for help was described in high quarters here as clear indication that the Nazis have been thinking of seizing the rich industrial area.

World's Fair Dies Violent

Last Nighters Worry Cops Plenty

Death At Hand Of Hoodlums

CHICAGO, Nov. 2—A roaring horde of last nighters pillaged and sacked the Century of Progress until wee hours Thursday, doing damage estimated by officials at $150,000.

They tore buildings apart, broke down sign posts for souvenirs, threw chairs and benches into the lagoon, and protesting policemen in after them, and became entirely unmanageable.

Discarded bottles crashed from everywhere, including the skyride, which was promptly closed. The crowd roared when a fat man, wearing a stolen table cloth as a toga, leaped onto the head of an expensive car and shouted "pipe, come and get me." The police did.

The crowd ate every restaurant and sandwich booth out of food and drank every beer spot out of beer.

Ambulances screamed. Police whistles blew. The crowd roared. And the exposition died violently.

The magistrate suspended sentence, told Einsohn: "You should have got a medal instead of a ticket."

Anthony was injured by an automobile Sunday night, and Einsohn hurried him to a hospital.

BRITAIN GIVEN WARNING DIRE PERILS IN WAR

Winston Churchill Says Germany is Outstripping Other Nations in Arms

WOODFORD BRIDGE, Eng., Nov. 2. — Winston Churchill Thursday warned Britain that Germany, re-arming "secretly, illegally and rapidly," will have "overtaken us before another year has passed" in "organized military machines alone."

"A reign of terror exists in Germany in order to keep secret the feverish and terrible preparations they are making," the former chancellor of the exchequer told his constituency.

Vice-Premier Stanley Baldwin has said 'our frontiers are the Rhine.'

"Can we be sure that the men now in control in Germany will not reply to that: 'Our targets are the Thames'?"

A national emergency is approaching, Churchill said, as he attacked the National government for what he said were its laggard-ness in completing the program for air defence.

Churchill declared the approaching emergency must be faced "with energy and courage."

GOLD RUSH BY AIR PREDICTED TO NORTH SOON

ALASKA STILL HAS UNFOUND RICHES, CLAIM

Three Years Prospecting Gives Flier Bright Picture of North

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—Convinced by three years of prospecting that Alaska is still "reeking with gold," Merrill K. Riddick is organizing an aerial expedition to go back and get it.

"You've no idea of the opportunities up there," he said last night. "Not only in gold, but in timber, coal, iron and copper as well.

"Why, the surface has hardly been scratched. There is so much iron up there, for instance, that it throws a ship's compass off 15 points when it approaches the coast.

Riddick, who holds a Major's commission in the United States Air Reserve Corps, added:

"And another thing—the rush of '49 bustled a desperate people, the Klondike rush busted a depression, and who knows but what maybe there'll be another rush to bust this one."

Riddick, 39, a flying instructor during the war, said he knows of 800 unexplored granite domes, or mineralized areas, of a waterfall three times as high as Niagara, and of streams so full of fish "you could almost walk across on their backs."

MASKED CREW FIGHTS MINE FIRE SPREAD

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Nov. 2—A brick and cement wall last night blocked off the sections of the International Coal company's mine at Coleman in which fire has raged for more than 24 hours.

Starting Wednesday afternoon, the flames drove 200 men from the mine as fire crews took up their positions to battle the spreading fire.

Wearing masks to guard them against the deadly mine gas, the crews worked in short shifts throughout the day placing bricks and cement to block up the entries to the fire area.

Mine rescue squads and first aid teams stood by ready for any emergency. Several hundred men idled lapsed during the day, but were soon revived by the administration of oxygen. A tiny shanty, from which the work-crews labored in the pit, two miles from the main entrance of the mine.

Unless the flames are soon subdued, the flame-swept sections will be flooded.

B. Atkinson of a former Liberal member, which was addressed by Duncan Marshall, prospective Liberal nominee.

The convention, it is anticipated, will be sometime in December, is stated in Drumheller. In a short speech Mr. MacDonald dealt with the recent Liberal organization drive in the constituency, also claiming that the U.F.A. government, by its action in Turner Valley, was jeopardizing the oil industry of the province.

POTATO PATCH RIOTERS FREE

The crown is withdrawing the charges of unlawful assembly laid against those arrested in the civic potato patch on Fraser Heights in the early summer, it was announced Friday by E. B. Cogswell, K.C., crown prosecutor.

Mr. Cogswell said that the reason for the withdrawal of the charges was that identity of the accused was hazy in a good many cases owing to the large numbers arrested by mounted police and Royal Canadian Mounted police in the fracas at the potato field during the "unemployed strikes" over reduction of relief allowances.

Those arrested were at first placed on the docket for the Criminal sessions, opening in September last and were then put over until the November session. They will not now be called upon to appear.

The Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS

DID NOT DISCOVER NORTH AMERICA

Historians are quite agreed that the North American Continent was discovered by John Cabot and his son, Sebastian, June 24, 1497. Columbus discovered the South American continent nearly a year later in 1498—having found only some islands off the South American coast in 1492. Some claim that the Norse men colonized Iceland in 874 and Greenland soon after (must have seen the coast of North America. This was 500 years previous to Cabot and Columbus.

LIBERALS PLAN FOR BIG RALLY IN CITY NOV. 7

Hon. Duncan Marshall, Ontario Cabinet Minister, to Open Meeting

Permeated with a spirit of boundless spontaneous enthusiasm and determined to probe to the limit from every conceivable angle, the major problems confronting Canada today, members of the Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association met at the Young Men's Liberal Club rooms, McLeod building on Thursday night and formulated plans for the holding of the grand economic conference, called by W. R. Howson, M.L.A., provincial Liberal leader, to be held at the Macdonald Temple on Wednesday next, Nov. 7.

It was announced amid a storm of applause that Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture for Ontario and a former minister of agriculture in this province, had been invited to open the conference, as he would be in the province at that time.

TO BE BROADCAST

It was announced by Edward C. Fisher, of the arrangements committee, that the first session, the agenda at the opening of the conference, would be a discussion of the monetary and financial situation and that the first hour's proceedings would be broadcast.

Several addresses will continue throughout the day the whole concluding with a grand mass meeting at which there will be addressed by Mr. Howson, Hon. Chas. Stewart, M.P., for West Edmonton and others.

It was the evident and avowed intention of the meeting to make this the largest and most memorable of the several economic conferences called by Mr. Howson.

The meeting decided that in addition to organized groups or associations a cordial invitation be extended to everybody to attend.

INVITATIONS EXTENDED

Special invitation is extended, for the submission of resolutions on problems such as: Relief of unemployed soldiers; the unemployed; agriculture; lumbering; mining; fishing; trapping; assessing for the Peace River Block; Workmen's Compensation Act; capital and labor; immigration; the Bankhead-Jones bill; reform in national and social credit; taxes; interest and debts; trade; commerce and tariffs; transportation and freight rates; highways; public improvements and municipal districts; drainage; homesteading; telephones; health service; unemployment insurance; and in fact any other problems that should properly come before the conference.

It was decided that in order that an opportunity for presentation and discussion of all matters may be assured, those interested and the executive of the Liberal Association of each constituency be invited to present in the form of resolutions the major problems of the constituency and that these be made available forward such resolutions, together with the name or names of those desiring to appear before them, to the Arrangements Committee, Room 214, Second floor, Bank of Nova Scotia building, Edmonton.

Mr. Fisher introduced Peter Milne, Edgerton, recently nominated Liberal candidate in the Wainwright constituency.

PREDICT VICTORY

"While Wainwright has never elected a Liberal member to the legislature," declared Mr. Fisher, "we are sure that at the next provincial election Mr. Milne will sweep to victory over Hon. J. Russell Love, provincial treasurer."

Mr. Milne was enthusiastically of the wave of enthusiasm sweeping the province on behalf of the Liberal cause and felt that a wave that must carry all before it. The Liberal standard was broad enough to include those who previously had thrown in their lot with other parties and were now adherents of the principles enunciated by the provincial Liberal platform.

Dr. R. C. Ghostley gave an explanation of the Townsend Plan of revolving pensions, which is now receiving much attention in the United States. Under it persons over 60 years old, whose career had not been tarnished with a criminal record, would receive $200 a month.

CONDITION OF RECEIPT

A condition of the receipt of the pension would be that it must be spent within the month, else the next month's payment would not be made. This would eliminate hoarding and would keep a sufficient amount of currency in circulation which would correct the fundamental defect in our present system, namely, lack of purchasing power on the part of the community.

M. Stewart contended, in continuing the monetary discussion that the Dominion government should collect all surplus money that is all money over and above that held by private individuals. This surplus has been created by the people and they should have it," he declared. "At present the banks cannot loan, as they need security. They cannot get any new

COUPLE WILL TRY LIVING ON $1 WEEK

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 2.—Henri Larouche, 25, guest at the transient shelter here, believes he can live as cheaply as one—a dollar a week.

That's his weekly wage, and he's going to be married Sunday to Jean Gaworska, 17-year-old girl he met at a dance.

OXFORD GROUP PARTY IN CITY

"If there was 10 per cent of true Christianity in international affairs war would be abolished," stated Very Rev. Dean Quainton, Victoria, during a meeting of the Edmonton Oxford Group Fellowship held last night in the Christ church parish hall.

Well attended, the meeting was the first of the Edmonton house parties which is now in progress. Registration commenced Friday morning in the Macdonald hotel at 10 p.m. Meetings will be held Friday and Saturday nights and special services will be held in Edmonton churches on Sunday.

ROYAL VISIT INTERRUPTED

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 2—The Duke of Gloucester is confined on board a special train by an attack of catarrh, it became known here Thursday.

The train was stopped on a side track at Cloncurry, Victoria, and all of the royal visitor's immediate engagements cancelled.

It was stated officially the indisposition was slight and that physicians had no anxiety.

The Duke of Gloucester is in Australia participating in ceremonies of the centenary observations of the state of Victoria.

MAN-EATING EELS FEARED

CAUGHNAWAGA, Que., Nov. 2—Latest legend of the Indian reservation here now in process, on Thursday with a story of man-eating eels which devour Indians who attempt to cross the bridge leading to the reservation with the north shore into the swirling waters of the St. Lawrence river.

Four braves have fallen off the bridge during the past nine years and none of only one body has ever been recovered. The other three, according to the sages, were gobbled up by the eels.

Poultry Producers To Protest Pool

Poultry and egg producers in the Edmonton district will not take the new poultry pooling scheme without protest, a meeting being called for Friday evening in the McLeod building to draw resolutions to be sent to the Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa against bringing the industry under the control of the marketing act thus giving of a monopoly to the three western poultry pools.

At present the federal government is considering a proposal made by the three western poultry pools to make it compulsory for all poultry breeders with 25 or more birds to register their eggs through the pool medium of a pool central selling agency.

Vigorous protests have been registered by producers in Manitoba and Saskatchewan against the scheme and now Alberta producers are adding their complaints.

security now, because they have it all."

Circulation of money was the most important action to be brought about. He declared that there must be an equalization of trade and commerce between Canada and other countries.

MAYOR WITH BACKING, CAN LOWER TAXES

be a scolding down on the salaries paid the higher officials, many of whom are drawing the same salaries as they did before the depression, while the people of Edmonton who are paying those salaries have had their own earnings cut down in some cases almost fifty per cent. The question of refunding the present debt at lower interest rates has also to be tackled. His fight against high interest has only started and it must be carried on in city councils, provincial legislatures, and in the federal house. Premier Hepburn in Ontario has already breached the wall, and will save many thousands of dollars a year in interest rates as a result of his action are certain. I am convinced that the entire outstanding debentures of Edmonton can be refunded at lower interest rates than they are now carrying and at a consequent great saving to the taxpayers of Edmonton, and if I am elected we will take steps to see that this is done. It might be that we could reduce the present taxes by half and certainly we can cut them down to forty mills."

Ex-mayor Clarke's remarks were based on a statement received from the Sinking Fund Board relative to the city's indebtedness.

HAS HUGE SUM

"This statement shows that the sinking fund board now has on hand a sum of $9,763,089.50 for the purpose of retiring the bonded debt of Edmonton, while page 36 of the present Year Book contains the information that if all payments into the sinking fund were suspended until 1941, ten years from now, only $6,172,163 would be required to retire all the outstanding debentures that come due between now and that year," continued Mayor Clarke, "a sum of

"It was with this knowledge that I made the statement in the Empire theatre meeting of my proposals to reduce the mill rate.

"The secretary of the Sinking Fund Board states that under the present city charter the city is required to pay some $715,745 into the sinking fund in 1935. In view of the fact that there is not that much required to retire all the debentures for the next three years, this imposition on taxpayers who are losing their homes by reason of high tax rates is ridiculous.

HOW IT WORKS

"A rate of one mill raises slightly over $50,000, so it can be seen at once that from 12 to 14 mills can be struck off the 1935 rate immediately. In 1936 another nine mills

"But added to that there should be a determined effort to have the whole bonded debt refunded debentures refunded at a lower interest rate and if enough money is ducing the mill rate still further. It can be done and it will be done by a mayor and council with the necessary courage and determination to see it done."

The statement received from the Sinking Fund Board shows that in 1935 only $115,748 is required to pay off debentures falling due in that year. The amount increases progressively until 1944 when it reaches the total of $6,472,163, while the city has on hand to meet this $9,763,089.50 mentioned which with the interest accruing year by year will be increased considerably in ten years time.

WILL NOT DO

"It will not do for candidates to meet these figures with the usual sophistries which the tax payers have had to assimilate every year at election time. These 'spend money' protagonists and those who still prate of the sanctity of the contract with the bondholders while forgetting that Edmonton citizens are being taxed out of their homes and life savings' said Candidate Clarke.

The ex-mayor also challenged statements made by one of his opponents regarding the amount of the debentures sold during his term of office as mayor in 1928 and the amount of interest paid on these debentures.

"I have gone to the trouble to get a statement from the City Hall on

NAVIGATOR TO OCEAN FLIERS VISITS COAST

Aviator Starts Making Plans Canada-to-Australia Flight

VICTORIA, Nov. 2—J. L. Skilling, navigator for the projected air flight from Canada to Australia, arrived here last night on the R. M. S. Aorangi from the Antipodes.

Skilling, aged 33, is a master mariner and will navigate for Wing-Commander C. T. P. Ulm and co-pilot George M. Littlejohn.

The trio, and possibly a fourth companion, will fly a two-engine Airspeed envoy monoplane manufactured by the Airspeed Company of Great Britain. Ulm and Littlejohn are now in England.

Skilling was reticent concerning plans for the flight and referred all queries to Wing Commander Ulm.

It is expected the Australians will fly from Montreal to Vancouver before starting the over-ocean hops.

DEBTORS MAY SEEK OFFICE

While the city charter states that persons owing the city money are not eligible to hold office, an interpretation of the clause by Justice Beck, of the Supreme court, in 1915, makes it possible for such persons to be elected.

Interviewed in this connection Friday, City Solicitor Thomas Garside referred to the ruling given by Justice Beck, then of the Appellate division. Dealing with section 369 of the charter, the justice ruled that taxes were a debt "but they are a debt solely by force of the statute—a fictitious debt for which no ratepayer (which includes every person eligible for election as a member of city council) can avoid being a debtor; a debt—an obligation to pay which is common to all ratepayers."

this matter, and it shows as follows; he said:—

"There is a considerable difference in the statements being made by my opponents and in that official statement; but I have this to add again, although I may be repeating myself.

"Times have changed since those debentures were issued, and there is no reason why we should not get in touch with the bondholders and have those debentures refunded at interest rates more in keeping with the present time. That is what I am fighting for now, and I believe I have the tax-ridden citizens of Edmonton with me. I am decidedly not playing the game of the bondholders, but I am for the forgotten taxpayer and wage earner in Edmonton. I think it is time someone got into office who will put his interests ahead of the coupon clippers."

PLAYWRIGHT DISGUSTED WITH IT ALL

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—Elmer Rice, whose Broadway successes include "Street Scene," "Counsellor-at-Law," "On Trial," and "We, the People" and other plays is through with the street on which there is a broken heart for every night.

He said Thursday he would never again write a play for New York because the theatre is "over-commercialized" and its dramatic critics are "jaded, bored, illiterate, stupid" and generally to be classed as "animal life."

R. M. BALL WINS AT FALL SHOW

Local exhibitors shared honors with breeders from different parts of the province in the Edmonton Sheep and Swine showing of pure-bred sheep and swine with R. M. Ball, South Edmonton, taking two championships in the sheep classes and sweeping the boards with his Tamworth.

The Ball entry in the Oxford and Shropshire classes were placed at the head of the list by Judge John Wilson, Innisfail, and place the University of Alberta entry in the lead in the Suffolk classes. As was the case Wednesday first prizes were widely distributed, first being won by exhibitors as far apart as Sedgewick and Clyde.

In the swine classes the Allinby Farm, Edmonton, took the championship in the Yorkshire and Tamworth classes, with competition, with the South Edmonton exhibitor, R. M. Ball, getting the reserve ribbon. The champion boar of the show in this class came from Tofield and was owned by F. R. Sulli.

The keenest rivalry existed between bidders at the auction sale of commercial sheep and swine with many of the animals offered bringing well over the standard market price. The T. Eaton Co., Ltd., Gaines, Swifts and Burns packing plants were the chief buyers. The highest price in the sheep classes was realised for Eugene Ball's animal, the Swift Canadian paying $10 a hundred lbs. for the beast. The high mark in the swine sale was that paid by Roy Bacon for Ted Cornish's boar, with other prices falling slightly below this high level.

MRS. RINGWOOD WILL NOT RUN

The first of the scratches in the Aldermanic election race came Friday morning when Mrs. Ringwood G. Ringwood informed the Bulletin that she would not be a candidate in the forthcoming election.

Canadian Labor Party officials are still endeavoring to find a candidate to fill their slate in the event of Alderman Rice Sheppard resigning. On Friday morning prominent Labor officials were still hopeful that the breach between Labor and Sheppard could be breached. Alderman Sheppard stated he would have his manifesto ready for publication on Friday afternoon, which would indicate that Labor's hopefulness is unfounded.

The City Government Association have a candidate selected for the vacancy which will be caused by Mr. Sheppard's resignation, but until the resignation is definitely in the hand of the city clerk officials are refraining from making any announcement.

STEVENS PUTS FISH COMPANY ON HOT SPOT

Wants Proof Why Bosses Unable to Pay Higher Wages

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce went on a hunt Thursday for an extra cent a pound for Maritime fishermen, serving notice to the National Fish Company and other large processors they will have to prove to him their actual inability to increase prices.

Figuratively removing his coat for the first time as a private member of the mass buying, committee who resigned the chairmanship along with his cabinet portfolio—Mr. Stevens gave notice of several questions he wants answered when A. H. Brittain of Montreal, president of the National Fish company appears as a witness next Monday. The former minister will be unable to be present that day.

WANTS ANSWERS

Here are some of the things the former minister of the commission wants answered:

Why did the National Fish company use 39,600,000 pounds of trawler-caught fish in 1930 and only 4,400,000 pounds of fish bought from individual fishermen?

While individual fishermen netted $150 and $200 for a season's work, why did the fish company pay the captains of its trawlers $4,971 a year, first mate, $3,800; cook, $1,737, chief engineer, $1,981, wireless operator, $1,292 and ordinary seamen $1,247?

BIG DISCREPANCY

There was a scandalous discrepancy between fishermen's earnings and the salaries of trawler crews, Mr. Stevens noted. Then he asked: "What is to hinder these large corporations giving to these poor fishermen, who supply only 10 per cent of their total, an added one cent a pound?"

LATER DELIVERY OF MILK STARTS

Commencing on Sunday next, November 4th, milk vendors' wagons are to get a "break." After rising with the birds and the bees all summer they are to have their plants each morning two hours later, to the "order the present schedule. As a result, customers will receive their milk two hours later than at present.

Those customers who have been receiving their milk by a very early delivery may find it necessary to obtain an extra supply on Saturday's sufficient for breakfast requirements on Sunday.

In cases where the new delivery time, for any reason, does not meet customers' conditions, they are urged to communicate with the dairy serving them and endeavor will be made to suit the customers' convenience.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2

FOR, OR AGAINST?

Congratulations to Mr. D. M. Duggan, Col. Jamieson, and other Conservative leaders, from one end of Canada to the other, who had courage enough to step out in the open and declare their support of Hon. H. H. Stevens in his protest against racketeer rule. That they spoke for the rank and file of the Conservative party there is no possibility of doubt. Whatever there may be taken to still these voices of protest in the supposed interests of party solidarity, what these leaders have said is no more than an echo of what ninety per cent of Conservative voters have been thinking—and saying in private conversation.

The racketeers play no favorites, and have no claims upon any section of the public. They plunder Conservatives as readily as those of any other political group. The Conservative investor is sold watered stock just as freely as any other. The Conservative consumer is fleeced for dividends on this fictitious industrial capitalization, just as any other. The Conservative industrial employee is ground down to starvation wages by the highly-protected financial syndicate for whom he votes, just as his neighbor of another school of political thought.

A political party means nothing to the pirates of finance, save an instrument that may be used for their own enrichment. They have no convictions, save the conviction that they have a divine right to plunder. They would just as soon ride the Liberal party as the Conservative party, and would back the C.C.F. or Socialists or Communists, with no regard for consequences or conscience if the terms suited them.

Mr. Richard Bedford, Conservative member for East Toronto, stated the issue when he said: "The big interests have Canada by the throat." They have. That is the issue that is before the Canadian people today. It is bigger than any party and more important to the individual than party allegiance or apparent party solidarity. Whoever has regard for public interests, or a wholesome regard for his own rights, is bound to help break their grip.

MAKING PERMANENT RELIEF CASES

Brig. Gen. Panet, head of Montreal's unemployment commission, has ruled that unemployed people must borrow and spend the cash surrender value of their life insurance policies before they can become eligible for relief.

There is something peculiarly fiendish in a ruling of that kind. It is to be hoped for the General's reputation that he is only interpreting the law, and not making conditions on his own account. It is still more to be hoped that the law applies nowhere outside Montreal.

That an unemployed man must see his family suffer hunger, or deprive them of the only protection they can have in the event of his death, is surely the limit of cruelty. If that rule holds in any general way, we had better stop calling Canada a civilized country.

That feature of the matter aside, where is the practical sense in stripping a family of life insurance before allowing them to eat? When that has been done, should the man die, his family become inevitably candidates for permanent relief. Be the times good or bad, what is to be done with his aged wife or small children except put her or them on the relief list, not temporarily but permanently?

Nothing in the whole range of relief administration is quite so stupid as the notion that a family should be driven and forced to divest themselves of every asset they have before they can get the "dole." The net result is that the country has on its hands a hopelessly pauperized family.

It would be far better business, from the taxpayer's standpoint to pay taxes and premiums, and keep the distressed family in possession of such assets as their home and their life insurance. Then when times improve they can take care of themselves and cease to be a public charge.

MUST ACT QUICKLY

Among poultrymen in Alberta, as among those of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, there is developing a lively interest, and an equally lively apprehension, as to the attempt that is being made to bring their business under the terms of the new Dominion Marketing Act and to subject them to the official dictation therein provided for.

No poll has been taken of poultry and egg producers on the subject and none is to be taken. The "say so" of Hon. Robert Weir, federal minister of agriculture, is to be final. Those who object, have until November 15th to file their objections; and the evident intention is that unless the objectors are large in number and represent a very substantial volume of the business, the Act will be made to apply to this branch of production.

In that event, anyone keeping 25 or more hens will have to register as a member of a compulsory pool. He will be allowed to market his eggs and birds only through the pool. He is given no promise of what he will get for his produce. He will be given an initial payment, amount unstated, at the time of delivery. The balance, if any more money is due to him, will be paid at the end of the year.

From the money coming to him will of course be deducted his share of the cost of operating the new machinery thus installed as part of the marketing system, including the salaries and expenses of whatever number of inspectors may exist as it is thought necessary or advisable to employ to prevent "boot-legging" and to instruct the poultry keeper in the handling of his flock; including the interest and sinking fund charges to meet loans contracted by the pool.

In a word, the business of the poultryman, and of the farmer who raises poultry, is to be taken out of his hands at his gate. What he will get as return on his labor and investment will depend upon the judgment, energy, foresight and honesty of those directing the pool, who will take possession of his produce once it leaves his premises and may do with it as to them seems proper or desirable.

If the poultrymen and poultry-keeping farmers want their business handled in that way, it is their affair. Any of them who prefer to handle their business for themselves have only until Nov. 15th to say so, through resolutions passed at meetings of those interested or personal communications addressed to the proper authorities.

The inference plainly is that unless these representations of protest are numerous enough to be impressive the ministerial edict will issue at Ottawa, and the marketing of his produce will pass out of the hands of the poultryman and the farmer who keeps poultry.

Poems That Live

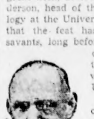

NUBIA

A land of Dreams and Sleep—a popped land!
With skies of endless calm above her head.
The dreamy warmth of sunshine now has shed
Upon her hills, and silence stern and grand
Throughout her Desert's temple-burying sand.
Before her threshold, in their ancient place,
With closed lips, and fixed majestic face,
Noteless of Time, her dumb colossi stand.
Oh, past them not with light, irreverent tread;
Respect the dream that builds her fallen throne,
And soothes her to oblivion of her woes.
Hush! for she does but sleep; she is not dead:
Action and Toil have made the world their own.
But she hath built an altar to Repose.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Raising the dead by chemical methods is no great trick, according to Prof. Velyien E. Henderson, head of the department of pharmacology at the University of Toronto. He suggests that the feat has frequently been done by savants, long before the two young University of California scientists made the front pages with their work—and their tiffs with the University authorities.

J. S. Cowper

The feat is never a success, says Dr. Henderson, because at the time of death the brain becomes depleted of oxygen and degeneration sets in. He told of one particular case where a patient was brought back from "a state that might be described as death." For a day or two the patient looked fairly well, but his brain was affected and he rapidly developed idiocy.

This disclosure may help to explain how it is we have so many writers of dirges for "blues" singers—and newspaper columnists, of course, in our midst today.

We don't think of members of the blue-blooded aristocracy bearing broken hearts around with them, but what do you make of the request to His Majesty King George by the young Duke of Norfolk, for leave to absent himself from the kingdom for six months.

The Duke of Norfolk is the representative of the premier Roman Catholic family in England, whose roots go far back in English history. Cable dispatches from London say that the young Duke two years ago fell in love with the beautiful Princess Marina of Greece and proposed marriage to her. The lady was willing, but it was necessary for the Duke to obtain the consent of the Vatican to the union—just as in olden days the noble had to obtain the approval of his sovereign before marrying. The Vatican, it is said, refused its consent as it was not desired that the Duke should marry a non-Catholic, even though the princess was willing to become a Roman Catholic for the purpose of the marriage.

Now the princess is to marry the fourth son of King George and will thereby become the Duchess of Kent.

The Duke of Norfolk, it is said, doesn't wish to be present at the wedding. He is Hereditary Earl Marshal of England and as such is responsible for the ceremonials at the opening of Parliament and at all royal weddings and funerals. In the language of the street "he can't take it," so he will visit India while the nuptials of the Princess Marina take place.

There's something to be said for being a commoner and being free to make one's own matrimonial mistakes.

Shakespeare makes a royal character declare "Uneasy rests the head that wears a crown." Come to think of it, a crown would be a most uncomfortable thing to wear in bed. Gentlemen, eminent in public life in Canada have been finding out that the so-called sweets of office don't taste so good these days.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, who was lured back into the political arena after he had announced intention to desert it for business, by promise of office from his leader in the event of success at the polls in 1930, is now out in the cold, brandishing copies of the two resignations he had tendered this year. He preferred to step out rather than give a requested apology for criticisms he had made prior to Premier Bennett's dealings with the Beauharnois financing ethics in Canada and the connection between the party he belongs to and predatory wealth.

This column has put forward the theory that Hon. Mr. Stevens when he spoke before the inner sanctum of the Political Study Club and consented to his speech thereat being circulated among members and friends, was victim of an evangelical temperament and a natural weakness for praise—to so many of us our heel of Achilles. Short of tendering an apology—which no man of spirit could well give under the circumstances—Hon. M. Stevens followed his act of courage or of indiscretion by profuse professions of confidence in his leader and of loyalty to the party. They were doubtless uttered in the ministerial tongue in the ministerial cheek. It will be interesting to see what interchanges take place between the dispossessed minister and his former colleagues when the House meets for its swan song before going to the country.

Apart from the personal recriminations between the ex-minister and his former colleagues, there will be widespread feeling that the public interest is better served with Hon. Mr. Stevens outside the cabinet than in. It isn't often that any ministerial action gives such all-round satisfaction as the resignation of Hon. Mr. Stevens from the cabinet. Both party leaders take the stand that Hon. Mr. Stevens pre-judged the issue in the Beauharnois affair, so that both Premier Bennett and Hon. Mr. King will be agreed upon the departure of the offending minister; the manufacturing and merchandising interests who made demand that he apologize will be satisfied at his unofficial protest, while the great mass of workers and consumers throughout Canada will feel that Hon. Mr. Stevens can serve them better as a private member in the House footloose from the restrictions imposed on a ministerial colleague.

If sweat-shop conditions at one end and profiteering and predatory promotion at the other end are as iniquitous and filled with danger as the Minister declared in his address before the Private Study Club, they should be brought before the House of Commons for full discussion and not be confined to hushed voices before a select group of private government supporters.

o o o

If Hon. Mr. Stevens can find satisfaction in the outcome—as no doubt he will—that will make it unanimous.

The Douglas Social Credit party won no seats in the Australian election. This proves either that the Australians understand the Douglas theory or that they don't.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Sear for ten minutes in a very hot oven, 500 deg. F., and then reduce the heat to 350 deg. F. for the remainder of cooking time, which varies with different cuts of Beef. Allow 20 minutes for each pound, mutton 20 minutes, and pork 30 minutes per pound. Baste every 10 minutes with its own juice. When about half done, turn it so that the skin may be uppermost for final browning and crisping. Roast Beef should be placed around the meat about 20 minutes before removing from oven, and served on the platter with the roast.

Note—The term baking is generally used for meats that are cooked but little, whether by steaming or boiling and then browned in the oven, as baked ham.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION—Mrs. O. writes: "Have been reading your health column and have read your interesting articles. Will you kindly tell me what causes one's stomach to get sore—right in the pit of it—and to swell immediately upon eating anything?"

ANSWER—Your trouble may be gastritis which means inflammation of the stomach; or, a gastric ulcer, about which I am forming. Give your stomach a rest for a few days, then use good food combinations, and, if your distress does not disappear, go to a good diagnostician or X-ray specialist and have a thorough examination. An ulcer discovered in its time can be easily cured, and through an early examination you may save yourself needless pain and expense, and avoid a serious operation.

QUESTION—I. P. T. writes: "I have heard of so many people suffering from intestinal flu. Just what is this trouble and is it serious?"

ANSWER—Intestinal flu is an acute catarrhal condition of the intestinal tract, bringing about fever and often prostration, with an inability to keep anything on the stomach. It can be overcome without any serious results if the proper treatment is taken. I believe that the treatment outlined in your article on Mucous Colitis would be beneficial in such a case, and the information on this subject will be sent in return for a large, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Dr. Frank McCoy's great book, "The Fast Way to Health," explaining the mechanics of health in plain easily understood language, is now ready and happy to oh hand at The Bulletin. A copy will be mailed prepaid upon receipt of $1.00. Just address The Bulletin.

If it is desired to communicate direct with Dr. McCoy, readers are requested to address communication direct to Dr. Frank McCoy, 1435 South Arlington Ave., Los Angeles, California, and replies will be mailed direct from that address.

Horoscope

By MARY BLAKE

If on this November 3 you miss seeing a person you were desirous of getting in touch with, it will pay to be philosophic, for it might possibly turn out to be better for you in the long run. Married and engaged couples, as well as those suffering palpitation of the heart from the effects of Cupid's darts, will prove themselves wise on this date if they go slow in offering and taking of advice.

If a woman and November 3 is your birthday, you may find life much simpler and happier if you confide more in other people. If you will make allowances for the average man's shortcomings and not expect a paragon of manly virtue, you may find a valuable and delightful acquisition and matrimony well worth while.

The child born on November 3, when old enough to understand, should be taught if it has some imaginary grievance or something that is bothering it to always discuss whatever seems wrong with some one of the family.

If a man and November 3 is your natal day, the greater the amount of confidence you can feel in human nature, the more rapid your stride towards success may be. Art, literature, architecture, engineering, as well as the legal and medical professions offer you opportunities.

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date (November 2) in 1832 William Hamilton Merritt, the creator of the Welland Canal, was first elected to the Assembly of Upper Canada, in which he remained until 1860, when he went to the legislative council. The election came about in a curious way. The previous election had been protested, but both members-elect and his opponent died suddenly from cholera. The petition therefore lapsed and a new election was necessary. Merritt was presented with the usual requisition and he accepted. His opponent was Mr. McCrae, a local merchant of much influence. The campaign was very warm, both sides using heavy artillery from the legislature, but after the polling, which lasted from October 30 to November 2, it was announced that Merritt had been elected by a substantial majority. One historian says: "When the result was known the most unbounded enthusiasm was displayed during the festival the people of St. Catharines gave way to expressions of good feeling on a scale of grandeur surprising for the times. We see by the Journal that an illumination took place and all the paraphernalia of general rejoicings were indulged in."

Merritt took his seat within a week, but, unlike John A. Macdonald, who waited a year or more before he made his maiden speech, rose to his feet the very first day, presenting a request for a special committee to investigate the charges made by William Lyon Mackenzie against the Welland canal and making a speech in favor of the free admission of grain and cattle from the United States. The same week also he pleaded for the abolition of imprisonment for debt, which system he stigmatized as a relic of barbarism and only a lever of tyranny in the hands of the legal fraternity, which only thought were the filling of their own purses. He was, of course, the spokesman for the Welland canal, having no hesitation as a legislator in asking financial aid for the project which he had carried to its initial stage. From the outset Merritt and Mackenzie were at arms; their political interviews were so hot that at one time there was talk of a duel, but nothing more of that. Merritt had no cowl himself of the hated legal fraternity when he sued Mackenzie for libel.

THE LOVE OF A CHILD

Little Gloria Vanderbilt climbed into a big leather chair beside the judge who is hearing her mother's suit to gain possession of her and told him honor that she would much rather live with her aunt than with her mother.

Whereupon the orthodox sentimentalists were suitably shocked and began to talk about "unnatural" children.

That is plain poppycock.

Parents who think that their children will love them merely because they are responsible for their procreation are living in a fool's paradise.

There is no mystical tie between child and parent.

The intimacy and propinquity of a household creates a certain amount of affection within that household. The mutual interdependence of its members makes harmony more or less essential.

But no child bestows a deep and genuine love upon its parent unless the parent earns that love.

There is nothing more pathetic than a mother or a father who has treated a child with indifference suddenly awakening to the fact that there is a biological phenomenon of nature, but a flame that must be ignited by the kindness and loving care of the parent.

Mrs. Vanderbilt is the pitiful figure in this trial, not little Gloria.

And no amount of litigation can change her status.

WHAT AUTHORITY?

Editor Bulletin: In one of your last week's issues Mr. Roper, the president of Edmonton Local No. 26 of the Canadian Labor Party is reported as having stated in effect that the attitude of the church toward enlightenment was responsible for the murder of Czolgosz.

If Mr. Roper is quoted correctly I should like very much to be enlightened as to his historical authority for such a statement.

"STAY OUT OF MY LIFE"

By Sophie Kerr

CHAPTER XXXIII

AMY, looking at Howard, told herself that she could never explain to him how she knew that Jane had loved him. It was no use trying. Aloud she said, "I'm sorry I started all this excitement. I didn't realize where it would take us. Of course, I don't see myself letting Jane coolly step in and take Nancy—but I was afraid she might want to. And when you asked me if I'd do it, providing Jane needed and wanted and really loved her—" She began to laugh—"this is all very involved, isn't it?"

"We're going to uninvolve it completely, and permanently, darling girl," said Howard, as they rang Miss Rosa's bell. "If it's possible to do it."

Miss Rosa was at home and delighted to see them. "Though you ought to be ashamed to look me in the face," she reproached Howard. "All I wanted was a 10-minute talk. Everybody would have adored it."

"Everybody would have said, 'For heaven's sake, why do we have to listen to that bore?' So that's all settled, and now we'll have a nice time."

"I thought Jane was coming, Miss Rosa," said Amy. "Mary said so."

"Oh, she's coming, but not the pullenium. I get a telegram every day telling me why she didn't start last night and promising to be here tomorrow. So today I wired her she'd better save her money on telegrams or she wouldn't be able to buy her ticket. She's as busy as a whole hive of busy bees, I know that. She's rented new offices, larger ones, and moving in." Miss Rosa was proud of that. "They're at 101 Park Avenue, right by Grand Central station. She's going to hire more people, too."

"Jane's the complete business woman, latest model," said Amy. "You remember, Miss Rosa, she always was like that. At all our sales and bazaars she could sell more than the rest of us put together."

They talked a little longer and when they went away and the door was closed behind them, Howard pulled out his notebook. "I'm going to write down that address of Jane's while I remember it," he said. "Stop here under the street light, darling. I want to know where she is so if she should be any bother to you I can get at her without loss of time." He wrote it down carefully, saying it aloud, "Jane Terry, 101 Park avenue, New York City, and may the Lord help you if you make any trouble for my Amy! And the same goes for little Nancy, too."

"I feel a lot better from having put it out of my mind and into yours," said Amy, as they walked along, "but I also feel I made a fuss about nothing. If Jane has new offices and more clerks and such, she's not thinking of Nancy. It doesn't even seem that she's coming to Marburg."

"She'd better not come and bother you. If I could only take better care of you. If only I didn't care of you. If only I didn't have to go so soon. It's no more than a minute since I came."

"It'll only be two minutes before you're back again. Say 10 weeks, 70 days. I don't know how many hours for I can't multiply 24 by 70 in my head—"

"One thousand six hundred and eighty."

"Aren't you clever! Howard took at our house! Doesn't it look nice! I believe Miss Rachel would sell it to us, if we wanted it. She says we make ideal tenants."

"D'you want to buy it? Suppose I'd be offered a chair in another college, we'd be stuck with it."

"That's what I told her. And she said, 'Hrmph. Marburg's not good enough for him, I suppose!'"

Amy came in smiling to Mary, who, reading the evening paper, seemed certainly full of pep.

"Jane," said Howard, "Miss Rosa and Miss Rachel Booth—"

"And me," added Mary. "Where've you two been gadding so late? I was getting worried. And so was Nancy. She was afraid Howard wouldn't be home in time to kiss her goodnight."

Howard raised his eyebrows and looked at Amy, who gave a nod of understanding. They could not speak of Nancy's real mother in front of Mary, but that message clinched what they had just discussed. Nancy would remain their own.

After that, for the brief time left of Howard's stay, Jane and all possibilities slipped back into oblivion. The time was too scant to waste on her. They could only stay together, trying to piece the hours to a reasonable length, trying to put off the end of them. Soon, almost before they knew it, he was gone as abruptly as he had come, and the old house echoed with loneliness. It was like a dream that he had been there at all.

At least, though Amy, it had been a glorious dream and there was the great consolation that he would come back again before very long. As she had promised, she let her pupils go, but she did not miss them. Alice Moreland, who had stayed away while Howard was there, began to come in again. Edgar was in France, but she heard from him often enough to make her, if not more cheerful, at least less desperately afraid, and she put up a show of bravery not to disturb Amy. The two young women sat and sewed together. "This child is surely going to be surprised by the hemstitching and embroidered scallops on his clothes," declared Mary Jackson. She herself began a double blanket which was far too intricate for what she knew about crocheting and would never be finished in time, she complained every time she worked at it.

Beside the needlework there was always Amy's music. She played a great deal, not hard working practice, but for her own pleasure. She had never before noticed how definitely certain composers influenced her thoughts, her spirit, how directly they moved her to another unvarying ambience. "It's not the usual mental response to a change in rhythms," she told Mary. "They change my thoughts as if they spoke to me. Bach is kind and good, but a little detached; Brahms scolds and teases and asks why I don't use my brain; Chopin shows off beauty a little too consciously, and Schubert shows off beauty, too, but unconsciously and as if he wants to convert the world to nothing else; Mozart never forgets the conventional formalities of his Kings and courtiers, but Beethoven, yes, and Franck—oh, Mary, they understand all poor struggling, stupid mortals. They give them their own vision of immortality. They don't deny pain and sorrow, but look at them with a sort of noble dignity that turns away their edge."

"Rationalization of the masters! I quite like it, only I don't think you're doing Mozart justice."

"I'm not doing any of them justice, but that's what they say to me, as nearly as I can put it into words. I don't know that I ought to try to put it into words. I remember once being very angry with Jane Terry about describing one art in terms of another—though I'm not doing exactly that."

Jane Terry—you know she's really coming tomorrow? Rosa's so pleased."

Amy turned back to the piano and went on playing. Mary was not done with its subject: "You know I haven't seen the girl yet. I'm vulgarly curious about her. Could we ask her to tea, with Rosa? It wouldn't put you out?"

Above the pattern of Anitra's Dance, Amy answered reproachfully: "This is your home, isn't it? You ask anybody you want for tea, lunch, dinner, breakfast or midnight snacks, and it's all right with me and you know it. You really ought not to miss Jane. She's quite fascinating. You'll get out the Limoges cups and the lace tea-cloth and I'll make cinnamon toast and fancy sandwiches."

It was she thought, inevitable that she should see Jane, and better right here, so if there was any dreadful thing lurking in Jane's mind about Nancy—besides, if she raked Jane and the old house echoed with that was the great consolation that he would come back again before very long. As she had promised, she let her pupils go, but she did not miss them. Alice Moreland, who had stayed away while Howard was there, began to come in again. Rocke - Chamberlain Wedding Is Fully Choral Thursday

Fully choral was the fashionably-attended wedding ceremony at which Violet Elizabeth Chamberlain, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. C. Chamberlain, became the bride of Capt. Guy V. H. Rocke, of Fort McMurray, son of Mrs. E. L. Rocke, of Sussex, England, and the late Mr. George Rocke, whose home was in Belfast, County Antrim, Ireland, at half-past seven o'clock in Holy Trinity church, Thursday evening, November 1. His Lordship, Rt. Rev. A. F. Burgett, Bishop of Edmonton, read the marriage service, assisted by Capt. G. G. Reynolds, rector of the church. Mrs. Wright was the soloist.

Very lovely in her wedding gown of white satin, fashioned on empress lines, en train and embroidered with pearls, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She carried an armful of crimson roses and her veil of point d'esprit embroidered in pearls was draped from a bandeau of orange blossoms.

Mrs. Alvin Geddes of Calgary, matron of honor, wore a gown of rising gold chiffon with brown velvet turban and gloves, and carried mauve chrysanthemums. Miss Molly Campbell and Miss Peggy Brown were bridesmaids. Miss Campbell was in pale green point d'esprit with hat to match, and carried yellow chrysanthemums, while Miss Brown wore orchid point d'esprit. Her flowers were mauve chrysanthemums. Sylvan Allan was a pretty little flower girl in her blue frock and bonnet, trimmed with pale pink french rose buds, and she carried a Victorian posy.

Capt. Wilfred May attended the bridegroom, and the ushers were Mr. William Campbell, Mr. Bill Campbell, Mr. Nelson Waller and Capt. Robert Peel.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in Connaught Armories when Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain received with the bridal party, standing before a background of palms, ferns and flowers arranged in the officers' lounge.

The bride's cake centred the supper table on which were arranged yellow and mauve chrysanthemums, and lighted tapers. Mrs. J. Hislop and Mrs. Gee poured coffee while Mrs. T. B. T. Hewitt, Mrs. James Ellis, Mrs. James Allan, Mrs. J. B. Ellis, Mrs. McLean, Miss Marion Story, Miss Kay Card and Miss Wright assisted in serving.

Later a number of the guests motored out to Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain's country home to bid farewell to the bride and bridegroom who will spend their honeymoon on a motor trip before leaving, toward the middle of November for Fort McMurray where they will reside.

Final arrangements have been made for the Royal Purple hard time dance being held in the Elks' Home, Friday (this) evening.

Mrs. E. L. Hill has returned from Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton and London where she has been spending the past few weeks.

Among the parties arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stanton prior to their departure to live in eastern Canada, was one on Tuesday evening at which Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sigsworth were hosts. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Lendrum, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Self, Mr. Ronald Stanton, Miss Edith Sigsworth, Mr. Jack Sigsworth, Mr. Bert Sigsworth, Miss Dorothy Morrow, Miss Lillian Lendrum.

the social round . . . . .

Handicraft workers win new laurels, and this time it is Miss Marjorie Hill, whose gloves exhibited in the National Exhibition of Handicraft work held in Montreal were awarded first prize. Miss Hill has won for herself wide renown as a clever maker of kid gloves, and her articles on glove making have appeared at intervals in these columns. She has given private instruction in the art and also conducts classes in the Edmonton Technical School.

Among the other crafts fostered by the Handicraft Guild in the province of Edmonton, glove making has become most popular, for it is quite the smartest thing to have one's own gauntlets and jelts to match your sportiest costume.

TO CLEAN COIL SPRINGS

No doubt your coil springs become dusty, probably with fine particles sifting down from the mattress. You can clean the springs very easily with a radiator brush. This brush has a long handle and will prevent your scratching your hands on the springs. Besides, you can get into each coil with this narrow brush.

The newest coiffures are flat at the back. If your hair doesn't stay swished or swirled, and your curls need some influence to keep their place forward, use a hairette. The old-fashioned, long, comb-shaped ones are effective and train your hair the way it should grow.

What's What

What is the correct form for business women's cards? I am a widow, earning my own living for the first time in my life and, to my surprise, am fairly successful. My insurance money is invested in the firm; I am working partner.

E. F. L.

Answer—With so many women in professional and business life nowadays, new codes have developed for their social benefit. In Mrs. Sherwood's once authoritative book of etiquette, published half a century ago, it was laid down as an immutable law that no woman should use a card without the prefix Miss or Mrs. All that is changed. Miss and Mrs remain the social prefixes for all women except those who are physicians. Business women have two sets of cards; one set bearing the name, say, Mrs. Charles Jay Lachance or Miss Eleanor Forbes Lachance, the other set without the prefix Mrs.

Should bridegroom and best man wear gloves and silk hats at a morning wedding? How should ushers be dressed?

FRANK X.

Answer — Silk hats and gray suede gloves are correct at a formal day wedding. Groom, best man, ushers and bride's father are dressed alike—cutaway coat, white or matching vest, gray striped trousers, white dress shirt, wing collar black and white striped tie, black silk socks, black dress oxfords. To insure uniformity the groom may send duplicate ties and gloves to the other men.

Premier Is Gratified Over Wheat Pegging

Pegging of wheat at a minimum price of 75 cents on the Winnipeg Grain exchange is "gratifying" to Premier R. G. Reid.

Asked if he thought the pegging would interfere with wheat sales, he replied that he was convinced John L. McFarland would watch this phase of the situation and felt Mr. McFarland's judgment was such that the pegging took place at a point that would not interfere with sales.

The important feature to the premier was that the Winnipeg was the only unrestricted market left up until now.

Beauty Fades If Maiden Fails To Take Exercise

By GLADYS GLAD

"America's Most Famous Beauty" PAULINE BONAPARTE, gay young sister of the famous Napoleon, was considered one of the most betutiful women of his era. Pauline, however, was a very indolent and luxury-loving damsel. She refused ever to exert herself in any fashion, and had no idea of the meaning of the word, "exercise." Indeed, she even had a negro servant to carry her from her bath each morning. And so it's not amazing that, in time, her sparkling beauty faded.

Exercise is really a grand beautifier in every respect, for it stimulates the circulation in the entire body. And a good, brisk circulation is more rejuvenating than any mythical Fountain of Youth ever could be. But unfortunately during the winter months, most women are inclined to neglect exercise. In summer, the average woman usually obtains a fair amount of exercise, because of the pleasurable sports in which she indulges. But winter seems to change her into a little Alice-sit-by-the-fire. And as a result, her circulation grows laggard and sluggish, and her beauty loses its freshness and sparkle.

Physicians claim that exercise is the surest, surest and least expensive way of keeping young. And there's a heap of truth in that statement. For exercise improves the circulation. And when the circulation is good, a swift flow of blood courses through the entire system. Surging through the tissues, it nourishes and purifies the cells, carrying off all wastes that retard their activity. It beautifies the skin.

NORMA SHEARER

It gives the hair luster and the eyes sparkle. It makes the body slender, sleek and strong. And it makes a gal feel young and peppy, regardless of her actual years.

If you want to remain young and beautiful, then, don't neglect your exercising during the wintertime. There are plenty of outdoor winter sports, you know, and you can go to gyms and dancing schools. And if this isn't possible, you can do your exercising at home. There are some grand exercises in my "New Figure" booklet, you know. And even walking is an effective one. Get some form of exercise every day, anyway, and I'll guarantee that you'll retain your youthful vitality and loveliness for years on end!

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Fingernails

L. P. K.: Massage a bit of warmed olive oil into the base of your nails nightly before retiring. This treatment will remedy their brittleness.

Reducing

Mrs. Hill: My methods of reducing the bust, hips and thighs are too long to print in this brief space. However, they are fully outlined in my booklet on "The New Figure."

Rouge

Cora: The hues you mention are indeed suitable for a person of your coloring. A good brand of rouge will not harm your skin, providing that you cleanse the skin thoroughly after its use.

INTEREST IN SELF TOO SMALL TIME

DEAR MISS DIX.—What would you advise a girl to do who has 24 hours a day to spend on herself? L. P.

Answer:

I should advise her to snap out of it and spend her time in some more profitable occupation. I can think of nothing else so utterly demoralizing, nothing so narrowing, nothing that would make a person so self-centered and selfish and dull and uninteresting as spending all of her time thinking about herself and considering her own lot in life and her own wishes and desires.

Dorothy Dix

Why, her ego would fill the world for her! It would be the only thing that would be important to her. What other people are doing, what other people are suffering, what is happening in the universe would be nothing to her. Her little mind would be centered on whether she could have a new dress, or if the boy friend would take her to the movies.

You cannot think much about yourself without getting morbid because there are some of us who get our heart's desire, none of us who have not disappointments and blighted hopes, none of us who do not have to work and worry and put up with hardships. If you think only of yourself, you magnify all of these tribulations. You begin to see yourself as a martyr and to pity yourself and think you are persecuted.

It is only when we think of other people and see how much greater their afflictions are than ours that we get the right perspective on our own troubles and can be thankful that they are no worse.

If you spend all your time thinking about yourself, you become a bore, because inevitably you talk about yourself. The only happy people are those who spend their time doing some worthwhile work instead of brooding over themselves, and who are so much interested in other people and in life itself that they haven't time to waste on considering such infinitesimal atoms as themselves.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX.—John and I are engaged. I make a much better salary than he does and he has more expenses than I. Would it be correct for us to go Dutch when we go to places of amusement? John doesn't like for me to pay my way, but, if I did, we could go to a lot more places that we would enjoy than we do now when he pays it all. We are very much in love and don't want to do anything that might get us started wrong.

JOHN AND JANE.

Answer:

Perfectly all right for you to go Dutch. It is the only fair way when the girl earns as much as the man. The old custom of a man footing all the bills belongs to the days when a girl had no pocketbook of her own.

Individual Methods Of Serving Potatoes

By MARY E. DAGUE

There are 134 ways to cook potatoes. The Consumers' Service Division of New York City's Public Markets says so. Doesn't that make you ashamed of being such a stick-in-the-mud as to know only the eternal boiled, baked, mashed and fried varieties?

There are at least fifty-seven kinds of scalloped potatoes alone, done with bacon, ham, clam, cheese or sausage, for instance. And cheese, onion juice or bread crumbs will make something brand new of an ordinary creamed potato.

The lack of individuality in flavor of this old stand-by makes the potato an excellent fat carrier. And that, with the large amount of starch the potato itself supplies, makes it one of the most valuable of the energy foods. Remember, too, that the potato has more iron than we credited it with a few years ago, and that it's efficient in reducing body acidity. In short, the combination of meat and potatoes which our mothers used instinctively is recommended now by scientists—some of them anyway.

Bacon Gives Potatoes a New Twang in Casserole.

Potatoes scalloped with bacon is a splendid luncheon dish. The large amount of milk used in this combination adds much nourishment and with the bacon, makes a savory main dish. A crisp vegetable salad may well go with this because a contrast of texture in foods as well as a raw vegetable is needed to balance the meal. And how about a dessert of fruit, canned, fresh or dried, with a cookie to round out the meal?

POTATOES SCALLOPED WITH BACON

Three cups thinly sliced raw potatoes, 1 small onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups milk, 6 slices bacon.

Line baking dish with 3 slices bacon. Put onion, peeled but not sliced, in center of dish. Add a layer of potatoes and season with salt and pepper. Dot with bits of butter and flour rubbed together. Continue adding layers of potatoes and seasonings until all are used. Pour over milk and put remaining bacon on top. Bake 1 1-4 hours, uncover, in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). If you keep the dish covered during the meal the potatoes will keep appetizingly hot for second servings.

One-half cup butter or butter substitute, 2 cups light brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 12 teaspoon soda, 3 1-2 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

If the shortening used in place of butter is not salty add another half teaspoon salt.

Cream shortening and sugar and add eggs beaten until light. Mix and sift several times flour, salt, soda, cream of tartar. Add with vanilla to first mixture and mix well. Shape int rolls about 2 inches in diameter and let stand in the refrigerator over night. When ready to bake cut slices about one-eighth inch thick and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.)

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grapes, cereal, cream baked French toast, honey, milk coffee.

LUNCHEON: Potatoes scalloped with bacon, head lettuce with chiffonade dressing, canned strawberries, butterscotch cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER: Breaded veal cutlets, potatoes au gratin ,spinach in lemon sauce, pineapple upside-down cake, milk, coffee.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL COCHRAN — Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

Wee Dotty and Scotty said, "Well, lads, we think we'll go to bed. The more good sleep we get to night, the better we will feel.

"At dawn we'll come and wake you all . You'll jump, so loudly will we call. Then we can oil start out and try to find a new playground."

The Tiny lads all cried, "Good night! We hope that both of you sleep tight. We're going to turn in, too, and take a trip to slumberland."

The two girls promptly walked away. Then Scotty said, "Now, no more play! We're all tired out and lots of sleep each one of us can stand."

It wasn't very long until the monstrous castle was real still. The Tiny lads looked cute, all sleeping soundly, side by side.

The moon rose in a little while, looked in the room and had to smile. Then Duncy had a crazy dream. "Hey let me out!" he cried.

This woke wee Scouty, and he said, "Aw jhush! You're safe and sound, in bed. You're always dreaming things that make you bother all of us."

From then on, everything was still, and not a thing turned up until a giant came, and said, "Ah, Lit Here's where I start a fuss!"

"These lads look husky as can be, I'll make them stay and work for me. They had no business coming here, so it will serve them right.

"Now, first, I'll tie them to the bed, and then I'll wake each sleepy-head. Of course I must be careful not to give them too much fright."

Then, in a voice real loud and deep, he shouted, "Hey! How dare you sleep in my big bed? You'll pay for this, as sure as you're alive."

The Tinies woke up! Duncy cried, "Oh, look who's standing by our side. Then Scouty snapped, "Say, who are you, and when did you arrive?"

27 CRIMINAL CASES TO BE HEARD HERE

Court Sessions Will Open Monday, November 5, at 10 a.m.

A total of 27 cases are on the list of the criminal sessions which opens in criminal court at 10 a.m. next Monday. None of the cases promise to be of the sensational nature of some of those at the September sessions, and there are no capital offences among those listed. Chief Justice Simmons, of the trial division, will likely preside. It is expected that four of the accused will take jury trials.

The accused and their charges are: Dora D. Moore, abortion; John Milligan, false pretences; Arthur Ginther, theft; Peter Watamaniuk, perjury; Mrs. Emma Murrell, forgery; John Fred and Philip Prochinsky, perjury; Mike Paul and Peter Mariluk, causing bodily harm; Hubert Forecast, carnal knowledge; Walter Bezansky, theft; Homer Spivey, false pretences; John Vanderhagen, wounding horse; Frederick Wouldham, retaining stolen property.

Thomas Charlebois, false pretences; Ora Coombs, forgery; George Codd, theft; George E. Elgie, perjury; George Pellak, perjury; Lawrie Doyle, false pretences; Walter M. Morgan, attempted arson; Casey Wooney, fabricating evidence; Julian Beaver, carnal knowledge; Frank Misera, living on avails; Alberta Jones, causing bodily injury.

Nick Strembicki, St. Paul district farmer who faces a charge of wounding with intent, is having his case ret over until the winter sessions because his alleged victim is still in hospital.

Police Court

"Mechanical Larceny" came in for a round of abuse in the Union Cafe Thursday night after Andrew Rudinsky had dumped $3 in coppers from his roll of $160 and failed to line up the bells, bars, oranges or cherries so that the penny snatcher would drop a few slugs. Andrew banged the robbery box up and down, from one side to the other, pushed it against the wall, and generally gave it a rough time.

"I was a crazy fool to play the slot machine," he admitted to the court Friday morning when he paid a fine of $2 for wilful damage.

"I thought the machines had gone out of style," remarked Col. Primrose on hearing the story of the copper catcher.

"I understand they are on their way," returned Prosecutor Becker.

It was just tough luck that led Phillip Knight to button-hole Detective Andrew Wilchinski on the street Thursday night with a plea for a "dime-fer-acuppa-coffee." And it was still a double-cross of Dame Fortune when the court learned that Mr. Knight is on relief and has 12 previous convictions. The Thursday night effort cost him two months in jail.

"Keeping up with the Jones's" has proved an expensive proposition for a great many families, but it's seldom that jealousy of the Jones's mode of living leads to court.

Mrs. Violet Tomlinson, who according to evidence, went green over the duds worn by a neighbor woman, pleaded guilty to wilful damage, the charge being reduced from arson and thereby bared to court gossip a family that had literally burst into flames Hallowe'en night.

When her neighbors, the Cummings of 128 street, were absent, Mrs. Tomlinson took a screen off their window and tossed it onto the bed. Her attempts to extinguish the blaze failed and luckily the alarm arrived back before the flames were out of hand.

"Thank you very much," she said when the court gave her a one year suspended sentence and ordered her to make good the $40 damage.

Girl-friends who had been gifted with pretties admittedly stolen from a general store in the country, testified against their alleged crackerjack boy-friends. Alex Scarlicki and Norman Barner who were committed to the Supreme Court for trial, Scarlicki for receiving stolen property and Barner for breaking and entering and theft.

The stolen goods ran all the way from diaper cloth for babies up to purses for women.

The girls did well by themselves, cosmetics, clothing, footwear and even men's shirts being among the gifts. The shirts, explained one of the girls, was for her unmarried girl friend's unborn child.

Vivid Details of Case Disclosed by Bulletin Reporter—Policy of Provincial Government is Clearly Shown.

Following representations made to the provincial government by S. S. Bowcott, C.C.F. leader, definite action for the care of Mrs. H. E. Rasmussen, Wildwood mother of seven, children was taken Friday. She was moved from the local hotel and placed in Arlington House pending arrangements for re-establishing her in a home with her children.

A pitiful case of the "you're not my child" attitude of the provincial government's relief policy was disclosed Thursday morning to the Bulletin, following the refusal of Royal Alexandra hospital authorities to admit Mrs. H. E. Rasmussen, Wildwood resident and mother of seven children, on the order of a local doctor. Mrs. Rasmussen, who is destitute, is suffering from a severe cold and is also an expectant mother.

The hospital authorities took the matter up with provincial authorities before refusing her admission and were instructed to have Mrs. Rasmussen apply to the provincial clinic for treatment. This she did.

According to her own story, nothing was done for the woman by the clinic, and through the services of a friend, she was able to get a ride in his car from the Royal Alexandra hospital to the clinic, the aid of S. S. Bowcott, prominent labor man in the city, was solicited. He made arrangements for the woman to be housed and cared for the night, and is pressing for action by the provincial government.

HIT-RUN VICTIM

Mrs. Rasmussen came to Edmonton some weeks ago with her husband, who is at present a patient in the University hospital. She was the victim of a hit and run driver on Jasper avenue and Sixth street about two weeks ago, spending several days in hospital as a result of injuries received.

She had not expected to stop over in the city for any length of time and had left her family in charge of a girl at Wildwood. The accident delayed her return, and in the meantime the girl left in charge abandoned the family. The RCMP stepped in and boarded the family with people in the district, closing up the Rasmussen home.

On discharge from hospital Mrs. Rasmussen went to live with friends in Edmonton, but when she became ill they were unable to look after her, and suggested she go to the hospital.

Seen Thursday morning Mrs. Rasmussen said she came to Edmonton to join her husband. "rustle some clothing for her children as they were practically naked, and did not expect to stop over here but an accident prevented her return."

"When I got out of hospital I had no home to go to. The police had taken possession of our place. They had placed my children in the charge of neighbors in the district. I had nowhere to go. My husband was in hospital. Friends took pity on me and kept me until I became sick. They advised me to go to hospital, but I cannot get into a hospital. It only requires a few days treatment to make me well, but I cannot have it. It seems hard, and I do not know what to do," stated Mrs. Rasmussen.

From his bed in the University hospital a rugged story of endeavor to gain a livelihood unaided university was told by Rasmussen to the Bulletin.

LEG IS LOST

"I lost my leg in an accident in attempting to break a horse in 1913. Since that time I have farmed in the Cardston district, but the farming game there has not been good. I took up trucking for a living, hauling coal from the Lethbridge mines. I made O.K. on that job," he said, "and was getting by."

"About a year and a half ago my truck caught fire and burnt up. I could not replace it. With my one leg I could not make a living. I had to go on relief. When the government ordered it to move people from the south to Northern Alberta I asked to be given a farm. I was told to make a living. I came north and settled at Bonnyville. I applied for relief there until I had a chance to get work and was told that the Cardston authorities had refused to continue payment. I took the matter up with J. M. Dechene, M.L.A., and he got me $13 a month."

"Not being able to get work in the Bonnyville district I moved to Wildwood and worked in the lumber camps drawing water. I continued at that work until my bad leg broke out again and I was sent to hospital.

KNOWS BEES

"I can make a living keeping bees if the government will give me a parcel of land and a chance to start. But with my handicap I cannot provide for my wife and family. If they give me the start I can make a go of it. But it is impossible for me to gain a livelihood out of the lands on which the provincial government is settling people from the south.

Labor officials are looking after Mrs. Rasmussen and are taking up the case with the provincial government with a view to having the Rasmussen home re-established and the breadwinner given a chance to gain a living when he is discharged from hospital.

Onus Put On Cardston Town

Services of a physician were obtained specially to attend Mrs. Rasmussen on Friday, declared A. A. MacKenzie, chairman of the Alberta Relief Commission in the

The city building department has issued a permit to R. O. Lucas for the stuccoing of a store at 11451 Jasper avenue at a cost of $1,500.

Members of the 63rd Battalion will hold a banquet and smoking concert at the Royal George hotel on Saturday evening, November 10.

E. J. Pope, Ottawa, superintendent of group insurance for the Metropolitan Life, is a business visitor in Edmonton conferring with local officials here.

Mayor Dan Knott, Alderman James East, and possibly S. A. G. Barnes will be the Edmonton Labor Party speakers at the South Side Businessmen's Association political dinner to be held on Tuesday evening, November 6.

F. M. Kroesen, who farmed in the Horse Hill district for over 20 years but who has been a resident of Portland, Oregon, for the past nine years, is an Edmonton visitor and is registered at the Leland hotel. He expects to be here for some days.

"World-wide improvement is being shown in business, while in western Canada the pick-up during recent months has been remarkable," stated F. J. Longhurst, western manager of the Parke Davis Company, who is a visitor to the city during a tour of western Canada.

Enthusiastic response is being shown over the approaching four days' fellowship from Edmonton to Edson in celebration of the completion of the all-weather highway at that point which will be made Saturday. A cavalcade of cars will make the trip which will start from the Motor Association offices in the McLeod building at 2 p.m. Upon arrival at Edson a banquet will be held.

TAX REVENUE TAKES SLIDE DUE TO DELAY

1934 Total Does Not Include Third Instalment —$308,401 Drop

Tax collections for the first ten months of this year totalled $2,701,999.37, a drop of $308,401.73 as compared to $3,010,401.10 for the corresponding period last year, Thomas Walker, city assessor and tax collector, reported Friday. Collections for the ten months this year are lower due to the fact that the third instalment of taxes has not yet been paid, while the 1933 figure includes the third instalment payment.

Comparison of collections follows: Figures for 1934 and 1933 being in that order: Land taxes—current, $1,876,261.96, $2,207,475.85; arrears, $552,666.41, $51,757.22; business tax —current, $188,976.88, $193,555.64; arrears, $30,516.31, $25,084.47; service tax—current $22,500, $30,000; arrears, $120, $893.88; land sales— $30,957.81, $39,334.04; totals—$2,701,999.37, $3,010,401.10.

WILL CONSIDER MARKET PLAN

Livestock production interests of the province will meet at Calgary on Thursday, Nov. 8, to consider a marketing scheme for the province under the Natural Products Marketing act, according to an announcement made on Friday by officials of the provincial agriculture department.

The first step in the formation of such a scheme was taken in this city on October 17 when a committee of 17 men representative of all ranks of livestock production named by Hon. W. W. Grauer, minister of agriculture, studied the entire marketing question in relation to the Marketing act and endorsed the general principle of the new Dominion legislation. This committee also prepared a scheme, as required by the Act, and it is this scheme which will be submitted to the livestock growers for approval or rejection at the Calgary meeting.

All bona fide livestock organizations have been invited to send representatives to this meeting, W. G. Brunsden, secretary to the provincial livestock marketing committee, states that no restrictions have been placed on the number of delegates each organization can send. Officers of all organizations have been inadvertently omitted are invited to send delegates. In addition, livestock producers unaffiliated with existing groups or associations are urged to attend in order that as many as possible be completely representative as possible.

handling of the case. Mr. Rasmussen also had been placed in hospital, he declared.

Asked if the Commission had been negligent, Mr. MacKenzie said, "I hope that the file on this case will be examined. I feel it is one case in which the Commission has even gone beyond what it might be reasonably expected to do in caring for a family. If there is any neglect it has been on the part of the town of Cardston and in Mr. Bowcott's presence I despatched a wire to the authorities there pointing this fact out to them."

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

In one of her most recent articles in the love-lorn columns, Dorothy Dix, Edmonton Bulletin feature writer, gave the low-down on the correct way to propose. During his life in his hands, The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter today risked all on his rounds when he asked the opinion of the local damsels on the preferred ways and means of popping the old question in the waiting garden.

The effort (and what a struggle it was) follows:

CO-ED HAZEL JEAN of Pembina: "... the early spring . . . a girl's heart is vulnerable . . . maybe because of June and marriage. . . . the all important question? . . . not too sentimental . . . perhaps a little romance. . . . None of this 'only girl in the world' stuff. It might have gone over big with Grandma, but not with Pembinites . . . they're more"

MABEL JACKSON, teacher: "Not interested. I am still waiting for the Honorable R. B. Bennett to ask me and so far he doesn't know I'm alive."

CO-ED JOAN SMITH of Pembina: "It should be in the evening—when the lights are dim—and the dance floor is lit by moon-glow—and the music is in the midst of the 'Champagne Waltz' or the 'Moonlight Waltz'—and white shirt fronts gleam—silks swish—roses perfume the room—when the orchestra sobs out the finishing bars—gliding feet go slower and waists are clutched tighter—that's the time when a proposal has the best chance of clicking. Most girls like plenty of romance and background at a time like that."

BETH KENOKE, traveller: "The how, when, where, make little difference. It's only the why that counts."

FRANCIS CLEMMER, co-ed of Pembina: "... evidence would be too much of an anti-climax to a romance-charged proposal. The question should be matter-of-fact, over the beef steak in a cafe, on the street while waiting for the lights to change, on the chesterfield listening to the radio, or over the bridge table, to relieve the tension after an ace has been trumped."

DOROTHY CARTER, law stenographer: "The man should be above all other things, honest. His opening should be, 'Darling, after the marriage you will be in charge of all the money.' After that it doesn't matter what he says."

MILD, SUNNY WEATHER HERE

The barometer is steady at 27.09.

R. D. Tighe, K.C., although pressed by a great many supporters to run for the Separate School Board, stated Friday morning that he would not be a candidate at the forthcoming election.

Canadian Labor Party candidates in the forthcoming civic election have been invited by the King Edward Park Community League to address a meeting to be held in the Community hall on Monday, November 5.

In Edmonton on a business visit W. B. Low, mayor of Edson, reports the highway through to the coal town in splendid condition, but stated that it was possible the work on the highway would not be carried to completion this year owing to frost conditions.

Movement of single unemployed at the rate of 35 a day will continue from this city to East Kootenay works camps until about 800 have been absorbed, according to A. A. MacKenzie, chairman of the Alberta Relief Commission. The movement started last Monday. In all about 1,300 will be taken from the province, with 800 from this city.

CLARKE OPENS HEADQUARTERS

Conducting an aggressive campaign on behalf of their mayoralty candidate, ex-mayor Joseph A. Clarke, and the slate they have endorsed for other civic offices, the Independent Labor party has opened headquarters and committee rooms at 9057 Jasper avenue, upstairs.

For information as to candidates, meetings and other campaign information they have installed a telephone number, 25077, with telephone number 24842 in reservation for those wishing to know if they are on the list and where their vote is to be polled. This office will also take note of those electors who desire a car to take them to the booths on election day.

GRANT JURY TRIAL REQUEST

Mr. Justice Boyle granted an application for a jury trial made by S. Bruce Smith, counsel for Nellie Olynyk, of Red Deer, who is suing five employees of the Ponoka hospital for $50,000 in connection with the death of her husband on March 2 last. The death occured at the hospital.

L. Y. Cairns, acting for the five defendants—Dr. George A. Davidson, Dr. A. A. Armstrong, Dr. R. J. Hamilton and Thomas Wells and Ralph Holmes, attendants—objected to the application, but His Lordship agreed with Mr. Smith's contention that the plaintiff has a right to have a civil jury hear the case.

Olynyk died under mysterious circumstances a few hours after admission to the hospital. A coroner's jury which was empanelled at the time gave the institution a clean bill.

Dr. E. A. Roe To Run For School Board Trustee

Acceptance of nomination for school board trustee was announced Friday morning by Dr. E. A. Roe, osteopathic physician, who will run on an Independent ticket.

"My platform," stated Dr. Roe, "will be just that which any other man with progressive ideas would have. The furthering of the interests of the school children first and the application of the modern principles that have of late been fully demonstrated in the running of schools in general."

A resident and practising osteopathic physician in the city for the past 16 years, Dr. Roe has never previously run for any public office.

ALBERTA MAY CONTROL OIL, GAS PRICES

Premier Admits Action Contemplated as Caucus Continues

Government action toward control of oil and gas prices may be taken in this province, it was learned on Friday as the U.F.A. members of the legislature caucus adjourned for the noon hour.

Reports that prices have been too high have been circulating in rural parts and members brought the subject to the attention of the caucus.

Asked regarding this matter Premier R. G. Reid stated that "the government already has some information on the subject and the whole situation will be analysed to obtain fuller and more complete information and to take such action as may be necessary as a result thereof.

RE-AFFIRM STAND

The caucus also spent a large part of the Friday morning session discussing the marketing of wheat and went on record as re-affirming the U.F.A. stand for establishment of a national wheat marketing board as an immediate step toward national control of all grain exchanges an action in line with the move of the Dominion government in curbing activities on the Winnipeg exchange.

The caucus, it was learned, also discussed Dominion legislation dealing with marketing and sought to devise ways by which rates could be encouraged. Considerable discussion also took place on prices and distribution of the gas and fuel oil costs of farmers. Machinery repairs were another subject brought up and specially, stated some members in view of recent price increases. They claim prices were too high even before the increases.

The caucus continued into the afternoon.

PLAN ERECTION TOBOGGAN SLIDE

Erection of a toboggan slide approximately 500 feet in length and ending with a swift run along the flat has been planned by members of the Cloverdale community league as a feature to the winter's activities.

Located near the old ski jump tower on the hill at 95 street and 97 avenue, the league plans to provide full-time supervision during the months of its operation and will also provide for a smaller slide for children.

A continuance of the skating rink in the community during the coming winter has been announced by the league executive.

Tenders for the rink caretaker will be accepted until November 10.

Representatives of the Ex-Servicemen's Association interviewed Mayor D. K. Knott Friday morning in connection with the return of Edmonton unemployed from the Jasper camps, where they have been employed by the federal government. About 15 men from this city were given work, and the delegation dealt with the matter of civic relief for the workers when work is discontinued in the camp.

Comrade Mueller In Another Bad Guess; Bridge Stands Pat

Astrologist W. Mueller, officer of the "Astrological Research Council" who predicted that Premier R. G. Reid would pass out of the picture the grave yard way on October 6, added another miss-fire to his growing list of wrong guesses when the High Level Bridge stood pat without a quiver at 6:33 "true Edmonton Time" Thursday night and disappointed a crowd of close to 500 made up mostly of children.

The bridge did not blow up, blow down, drop into the river or sag in the centre as astrologist Mueller had warned in registered letters to the city council, police department and the Edmonton papers and the modern soothsayer's embarrassment was such that he went into hiding from a throng of admiring fans who sought him at the Queen's Hotel a few minutes after 6 o'clock to get the low down on why the big steel structure had gone back on him.

LARGE GALLERY

Although Astrologer Mueller was wide of the mark in his prediction, the stunt attracted a large gallery of curious who gaped as street car and automobile traffic rolled over the bridge and pedestrians sauntered across at the 6:33 p.m. mark.

Crowds of kiddies stood at both ends of the bridge waiting for something to happen and informed the few adults present that the bridge was going to be sagging in the centre, that it swayed from side to side and looked like going into a loop the zero hour on the dot.

A long line of cars with horns blaring bore down at the south entrance of the bridge and joined across as the steel spans showed they "could take it" despite the evil words of soothsayer Mueller.

Red and white line street car number six and the all white car number 73 were on the bridge as the hands on the old village clock tolled 6:33 p.m. and what's more they carried their usual quota of passengers, according to the motormen who make the run.

JAMMED WITH SCORES

Street car 73 from the Highlands, due at the bridge on the collapse hour was jammed with children, who climbed aboard all along the route and discussed in audible whispers the big event.

"It'll be oke-doke if she does go down," said one cheerful youngster, "but it'll be a lot better if there's a coupla trains and street cars on top."

Police Chief Shute, not taking chances of any possible sabotage at the bridge had a few of his minions mingled with the crowd and Fire Chief Albert Dutton rolled across at the zero hour in his big red department car.

Just A Lot Of Tommy-rot

A Bulletin reporter, virtually taking his life in his hands, essayed to make the crossing of the bridge at the minute it was doomed to disintegrate—6.33 p.m. He boarded car No. 6, southbound, and asked the motorman whether he had any misgivings as to the outcome.

"The bridge looks as strong as it always has to me," he said without turning his head. "After all, it's all in a day's work. We can't break the schedule because someone predicts the collapse of the bridge."

Figuring this was a fine stand on the question, but with a faint misgiving in his own mind as to the discretion of the course, the reporter stuck manfully to the ship.

Not one passenger transferred cars at the intersection of 109 street and 97 avenue, at which point persons wishing to avoid crossing the High Level could change cars for the Low Level belt route. And there were between 20 and 40 on the car. Outside of the excited whisperings of a few ladies, one would not have guessed this was a momentous trip.

Tram number six had arrived in the middle of the bridge at 6:33. Not a quiver. Not a strange sound. Nothing to indicate that anything out of the ordinary was happening.

The reporter sighed with relief. Of course it was all nonsense, but— The motorman sighed, "All tommyrot, eh?" he inquired.

"Yes, tommy-rot," the newspaperman replied, feeling very cheerful about everything in general.

A northbound white-sign car was the only other car on the bridge top at the time things were supposed to happen.

Resident Robbed Of $40 In Cash

A resident of a 101 street hotel was robbed of $40 during his sleep following a party early Friday morning, according to a report made to the police by the client. The man's room was entered, $40 taken from his pants pocket and a bottle of liquor from his dressing table.

A woman on the party was named as a suspect. She in turn named a few friends but they had already left the robbery victim to stand the drinks when they had been in his room early in the evening.

A Correction

In an ad carried in The Edmonton Bulletin of October 31st, the price of the Northern Electric Mantel Model Radio, listed as $54.95, should be as $52.50, the correct price is $52.90.

DAT'S FANS by BILL LEWIS

The recent announcement that no less than six or seven of the Commercial Grads had decided to call it a day has set tongues a-wagging, and, if truth must be told, there's a wide difference of opinion as to the champions' chances of retaining their hard-earned laurels for another season. Funny, isn't it? Here's a team that has been functioning with the smoothness of a Rolls-Royce for all these many years, dropping off players here and there and taking on new ones without any apparent decrease in efficiency, and yet, on this particular occasion, perhaps 50 per cent of the fans are all hopped up over the possibility of a complete collapse of the Grad machine.

Maybe, because we happen to have been exposed to the same sort of training up at Commercial High as has been practically every member of every Grad team, we're a bit prejudiced in our views; maybe we're just naturally optimistic; maybe, on the other hand, we're just naturally stubborn, and refuse to admit that there's more than an even side chance of things going "haywire." Maybe we're all of these things, but just the same we're going to make a prediction right here and now, and it's this: When this year's Canadian finals have been completed, you will see the Grads still sitting perched at the top of the championship flagpole.

Anyway, we had our first "look see" at the revamped Grads last night, when we slipped up to the Commercial High gym to see the girls play against their younger sisters — Bill Tait's "Gradettes." Apart from the fact that both sponsors are still experimenting with their lineups, the game was a real test for both aggregations, being handled by Arnold Henderson with all the precision which marks his work out at the arena. We are still old-fashioned enough to believe what we see, and on the strength of what we saw last night we're still prepared to string along with the champions for at least another season.

Mind you, we're not prepared to say at the moment that this year's team will be the greatest in Grad history; it's too early in the season to make such a prediction as that, but on the other hand, we'll go this far—when the fans see practically intact Grad team step out for its first official game, they will see one of the smoothest performing lineups they have ever glimpsed.

At the request of Coach Page, we shall not divulge the entire personnel of the team at the moment as a matter of fact, the exact lineup has not yet been decided upon, but we are compelled to go this far—Six of the seven or eight players who will constitute the team will be as follows: Captain Margaret MacBurney, Noel MacDonald, Mabel Munton, Helen Northup, Etta Dann and Sophie Brown. The first three need no introduction. For years Miss MacBurney has been star of stars, and her shooting eye is still uncanny. Miss MacDonald will be best remembered by the brilliant performance she gave in the final game against Tulsa last June when, almost single-handed, she turned the tide of battle into a glorious victory. Miss Munton, apparently quite recovered from a serious accident some months ago, is a veritable stone wall on the defensive end of the team.

The other three are newcomers—three of the smallest girls ever to wear Grad uniforms, but as brilliant as they make them. What these kids can't do with a ball just isn't on the books, and make no mistake. These girls are "going places," or we miss our guess. Handicapped by their lack of height, they play the ball close to the floor, and bounce-pass their opponents ragged. Their passing, shooting, shooting and all-round judgment are well-nigh perfection. Wait until you see them for yourself!

One of the things which impressed us most about the team was the splendid spirit which seemed to pervade everything they did. The "old-timers," which have banked in the sunshine of popularity for the better part of a year, watched for the newcomers to make good, while, on their part, the "kids" think the world of the "old-timers," and watch their every move in the hope of picking up useful pointers. And on top of all this, the whole bunch of them think their coach is ace high. We made it a point to sound out a few of the girls on things in general, and we came away with the idea that the entire Grad organization is functioning with a smoothness which bodes ill for all opposition. There's a spirit abroad that they just can't measure up—mainly, I think, because there are so many people who think it just as a matter of fact, the exact lineup has not yet been decided upon, but we are compelled to go this far— Six of the seven or eight players who will constitute the team will be as follows: Captain Margaret MacBurney, Noel MacDonald, Mabel Munton, Helen Northup, Etta Dann and Sophie Brown. The first three need no introduction. For years Miss MacBurney has been star of stars, and her shooting eye is still uncanny. Miss MacDonald will be best remembered by the brilliant performance she gave in

On the whole, sports writers are supposed to be notoriously poor prophets, so what we say may not mean a thing. However, if you're willing to take a tip from the writer, you'll waste no more over this year's Grads. Just wait a while, and if you don't get the surprise of your life, we'll miss our guess by a city block.

KENNY, WIEBE ARE FAVORED BY MANAGER

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 2—Three recruits on whom Chicago Blackhawks are depending to fill important holes created by trades and holdouts impressed Manager Clem Loughlin in drills on the University of Illinois rink Thursday.

Ernie Kenny, big defenceman from Edmonton who will operate in the space left by Lionel Conacher unless Major Frederic MacLaughlin can purchase a more experienced hand, pleased Loughlin Art Wiebe, a former Edmonton amateur, brought up from Kansas City, made himself at home in Roger Jenkins' old defence position.

Loughlin continued to use Norman Locking, last year with Cleveland International, in place of Doc Romnes who has not yet come to terms with the Hawks. Lorne Chabot was in the net, taking another worry off Loughlin's mind. To make room for the veteran goal tender, Sam (Pork) Levine was returned to Kansas City.

RANGERS WIN IN EXHIBITION HOCKEY TILT

Late Rally Nets Lester Patrick's Gotham Six Fine Victory

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2.—Last period pressure, characteristic of their games here this season, netted Lester Patrick's New York Rangers sufficient points to come from behind and defeat Montreal Maroons 6-4 and take a two-game margin in the third of their pre-season exhibition games last night. A fourth game will be played Saturday night.

The Patrick men flashed their driving power at the start of the third period when the Gorman clan were leading 3-2. A torrid assault, marred by a general player melee when Bert Connolly, former Moncton Hawk star, and Jimmy Ward, of Maroons, elected to mix it, brought the Rangers four goals more and an edge in the series.

Maroons outplayed Rangers in the first period when Earl Robinson and Allan Shields put the brown shirts two up on solo efforts. They started the second in workmanlike fashion and Dave Trottier made it three on an assist from Robinson.

GOALIES CLEVER

The New Yorkers almost tied the count in the second period on Dillon's snap shot from Bun Cook's rebound and Bill Cook's lone effort three minutes later. The crowd gave both goalies a large hand for some spectacular network in the last half of the session.

The third period opened with a burst of speed from the red shirts. Dillon made good a pass from Bun Cook after four minutes and Kenny put Rangers ahead in a pretty solo effort a minute later. The pace quickened after Hooley Smith rifled one past Aitkenhead and ended in a frenzy of excitement as Dillon and Lesuk bowley barged through for neat efforts.

LINEUP

Rangers—Aitkenhead, goal; Seibert, Levinsky, defence; Cook, Boucher, Dillon, forwards; Heller, Ripley, Murdoch, Hooley Smith, Scorers, Mason, Bill Cook.

Maroons — Kerr, goal; Westworth, Haynes, defence; Ward, Northcott, Smith, Gorman, Shields, Trottier, Cain, McKenzie, Blinco, Robinson, Marker, Gardiner, Shields, Evans.

Second period — Maroons, Trottier (Robinson), 3:00; 2, Rangers, Dillon (Bun Cook), 3:46; 3, Rangers, Bill Cook, 6:26. Penalties: Keeling, Arrington (2), Evans, Ward.

CALDER DRAWS WITH M'DOUGALL

In the first of a home-and-home game series, McDougall and Calder battled to a 2-2 deadlock in the senior Public School Soccer League. The series is for the championship of the west division.

The second game will be played on Friday at Calder's home grounds.

It was a battle between two well-balanced teams of equal ability and both flashed a spirited brand of soccer.

The winner of this series will play Bonnett in the semi-finals with the winner of the second series playing Eastwood for the city championship.

For the winner of the city title, it is hoped, a trip to Calgary is being planned. Should an Edmonton team journey south they will be battling for provincial honors and the McLeod Sinclair trophy.

McCready Draws In Mat Program

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—Earl McCready, 228, of Amulet, Sask., and Hans Steinke, 240, of Germany, battled to a draw in the feature of a three bout wrestling card here last night. After each had gained a fall, Steinke in 38.56 and McCready in 16.35, they fought through the remaining minutes of the one hour time limit without reaching a decision.

Fighters Prepared For Bouts Tonight

Many Rounds of Action Assured For Fistic Followers

With many rounds of thrill-laden action, produced by rugged leather pushers, assured, fistic warfare in Mike "Kap" Kaplansky's professional boxing show will get underway at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Empire Theatre.

Four well matched bouts have been arranged for Edmonton's fight followers, with Battling Sig Tracey and Sailor Goodland featuring in a 12-round headline go. It's a grudge battle between the heavy-punching pugilists and twelve rounds of fight-laden action is expected to be witnessed in this final.

GRUDGE WARFARE

Two other bouts also promise grudge warfare. One go, an eight-rounder, will bring together two of the most impressive amateurs of a short time ago. They are: Johnny Blocklinger, popular local product, and Paul Matvenko, of Calgary, considered as two of Alberta's finest welterweight battlers. Many of their bouts have been heated affairs, with Blocklinger getting an edge in the victories. This will be Blocklinger's second professional start and the first time Matvenko and the Edmonton puncher have met on a professional card. Fireworks cannot be prevented in this semi-windup, for Matvenko declares a triumph over Blocklinger will fairly well even the score against his foremost opponent of amateur days.

It's a tip to those attending tonight's battles to watch the 12-round main event and the semi-windup which will be over the eight-round route.

Gordon Williams, clever and popular boy from local boxing ranks, is expected to have many cheers from a large part of the gallery in his preliminary joust against Gordon Scott, of Viking. It will be the second time in the past three months that they have fought, with Scott getting an unpopular decision over Williams in the first go. Like Williams, there's a lot of the boxing fraternity out to see the Viking boy whipped this evening as a result of the decision against Williams recently.

This bout is expected to be the third of the grudge variety and no little interest is centred around the bout, with of course, Williams being the favorite to win according to fight followers.

Don Wells and Jimmy Collier have been matched for the curtain raiser. Wells recently took a smart decision over Johnny Smith, but just how he will fare with the rugged pugilist from Edmonton ranks is a problem not easy to decide.

Officials and all other arrangements for the comfort and ease of attending have been ably arranged. Once again—the action starts at 8:30 o'clock at the Empire theatre.

KINSMEN PLAY SERIES WINNER

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2—Edmonton Kinsmen will play the winner of the Winnipeg Deer Lodge-Regina Dales semi-final tilt or the western Canada junior rugby championship. The game will be played November 10 on the grounds of the semi-final victors.

This announcement was made here yesterday by Arnold Dowd, secretary of the Western Canada Rugby Football Union, who received a wire from President Sax Crossley in Vancouver, stating the new plans.

Either Winnipeg or Regina, whichever wins the match to be played at Winnipeg next Saturday, will play host to the Edmonton Kinsmen. It is believed the ruling calls upon the home team paying Edmonton's expenses.

Regina to Miss Star Quarterback

REGINA, Nov. 2—After being out of the practices for some time with a knee injury, Paul Dojack, diminutive Dale quarterback, will be unable to participate in Saturday's game against Winnipeg. The knee has not responded to treatment as well as expected. Bobson replaces Dojack at quarter.

GEORGE LOTT QUITS RANKS OF AMATEURS

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—George Martin Lott, jr., of Chicago, co-holder of the United States indoor and outdoor doubles championships and recognized as the world's outstanding doubles tennis player, turned professional Thursday, signing a contract to join a four-months pro barnstorming tour under the sponsorship of Bill O'Brien, sports promoter.

The 28-year-old mid-westerner, who was a member of six United States Davis cup teams and was listed in the United States' first 10 seven times in the past 10 years, refused a flat sum of $10,000 offered by O'Brien and his partner, William (Big Bill) Tilden and affixed his signature to a document specifying a percentage of the gross gate receipts.

In announcing Lott's contract, O'Brien revealed that actually came to terms four days ago and that public committal of the fact was held up in the hopes that Lester Rollo Stoefen of Los Angeles, joint holder with Lott of the two United States titles, would also accept a similar contract.

MAT ARTISTS TO PERFORM HERE NOV. 6

Masked Marvel in Main Event is New Stunt for Grapplers

A new stunt, the masking of a headline contender, will be featured on Promoter Mike Cutcher's fifth all middleweight wrestling programs for the New Empire theatre here November 6.

Seldom have local fans been treated to such pleasing wrestling programs as those lined up by the genial Cutcher during the past few weeks. He has had shows in rapid fire succession and in all there has been action, color and cleverness.

MEETS SPENDLOVE

For the coming show Mike is presenting a new mat star in the person of the Edmonton wrestling fans—none other than the Masked Marvel, whose real identity is known only to Cutcher, himself. The Mask, as Gil defeated nine straight months ago Young Tarzan has been hollering loud and long for a return match.

In the special event 'Bad Boy' Cummings of Wisconsin meets Des Anderson of Seattle and this match this should be. The "Bad Boy" will need all his rough tactics when he goes up against the fast and clever methods of Des Anderson who has yet to be defeated in an Edmonton ring. The Bad Boy says just wait and see—I'll murder that jelly-bean wrestler.

In the opener Karl Martin, Austria and Hec Trudeau, Montreal. If both live up to past performances this should prove to be a natural.

WINDSOR GIVEN MORE PLAYERS

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 2.—Things assumed an even tempo in the Windsor Bulldog camp Thursday, the only thing of importance being the arrival of Eddie Convey and Harold Starr. Convey, a Toronto boy, played hockey for both New York Americans and Buffalo Bisons during the 1933-34 season. He is a centre player.

Starr, a defenceman, gained fame playing rugby for Ottawa before he jumped to professional hockey ranks. He finished last season with Montreal Maroons.

SCHOOL GRID SQUADS SEEK HONORS HERE

Garneau will defend their Northern Alberta High School football title Saturday afternoon when Wetaskiwin will meet them on the Varsity Grid in a sudden death encounter for the title. The winner of this game has the privilege of taking a crack at Calgary for provincial honors.

Wetaskiwin at present are the Central Alberta champions. They gained this honor when they downed Red Deer recently. This small southern city dropped their game to Garneau last season but figure they have the necessary what it takes to triumph this trip.

Dana Brown, coach of the Garneau crew, reports all his men ready for battle. The few that were injured during their schedule are now off the sick list and ready to don a uniform.

PERSONNEL OF GARNEAU

Dan Podersky, wing, 155 lbs. He net only puts the ball where it is wanted but takes out a man as well.

Frank Kirby relieves Danny as snap. Weight 150 lbs.

Bruce MacDonald, inside, 166 lbs. Husky and a hard worker. Stops his man cold.

Lloyd Wilson, middle, 173 lbs. Cool and efficient and a reliable offensive and defensive man.

Dick Oster, middle, 182 lbs. Strong and short, makes his presence felt in the line.

Doug. Smith, inside, 182 lbs., another big fellow who plays well and hard.

Jack Staples, middle, 158 lbs. A bit light but a fast man.

Morris MacKenzie, inside, 168 lbs. Although new he has showed up well in the line all season.

Bob Richards, middle, 150 lbs. New but gritty and works well.

Bill Brown, end, 153 lbs. An old-timer and a deadly tackler.

Doug. Harris relieves Brown, 155 lbs. Cool and sure of his tackles.

Jack Millerm, end, 162 lbs. Relieves Oster at quarter. A quick thinker and a hard worker.

Doug. Thompson, end, 160 lbs. Was new this year but a great help on the ends.

Charles Tarnow, end, 145 lbs. A promising end.

Frank Rootes, quarter, 145 lbs. Has plenty of new tricks up his sleeve.

Bill Brown, end, 135 lbs. Another hard-hitting end.

Alberta Champions Give Great Battle But Defeated 5-0

Local Team Finds Wet Gridiron Great Handicap in First Game of Play-off Series at Vancouver

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

VANCOUVER, Nov. 2.—Those Bears that came over the mountains from the University of Alberta found new traps to snare them in their Canadian football ramblings and were conquered by the Meralomas hunters here last night by a close score of 5-0, one touchdown in the first game of the inter-provincial playdowns.

These new traps that upset the Golden Bears were a tricky, muddy field from recent rains and the wide open, daring play of the winners.

Varsity could find no sure footing during the game and their tackles were just that irritating foot short with their plunges and extension plays lacking zip because of the treacherous field.

RULE IS HAMPERED BY POOR GRID

Pete Rule whom Varsity figured on for many yards on the offense, resembled a tap-dancer with a wheat farmer's boots on as he tried to slither through a stout Meralomas line.

Morten, whom you know best for his kicking, was anything but that last night as he struggled desperately to get his long punts but had to be satisfied with short low feeble kicks because the ball cussedly allinered off his heavy shoe.

It was this fact—Varsity lost in exchange of kicks—that had them on the defense most of the game. Except for a few times when Meralomas, due to their daring passing in extension plays and running back kicks, fumbled, Alberta was never dangerous. They were never really in scoring position.

STOP MERALOMAS

However, defeated or not, it took a team from Edmonton to stop the famous Meralomas end runs, that famous play where three men handle the ball by means of daring lateral passes. Smart work by the outsides—Kramer and R. J. Zender, and the secondary defense—Rule, Cameron, Gordon and others—kept Meralomas from advancing an inch most of the time they tried to go outside but occasionally they got away.

On the other hand the Varsity line, which Meralomas figured would best them, weakened before the heavy Meralomas gridders who had the advantage of weight and experience in the mud.

It was going through the line that paved the way to Meralomas touchdown, the only score of the game.

Bright Stories about Wine

AN EMPIRE SHIP LAUNCHED WITH EMPIRE WINE

● Perhaps you noticed the other day that, when Queen Mary launched her gigantic namesake from the Clyde dockyards, she christened it with a bottle of Australian wine. We may say that it was through no spirit of niggardliness that we refrained from sending her a bottle of Canadian wine for the purpose. In fact, we stand ready to provide Canadian wine for all such ceremonies in the future.

● The point worth noting is that, in this conspicuous way, royalty called attention to the fact that, in the British Commonwealth of Nations, there is produced wine fit for celebrating the launching of the greatest of ships, and wine fit for this is obviously fit for lesser occasions. Thus not only the wines of Australia, and particularly the wines of South Australia which is the chief wine-producing state of the Antipodes, but the wines generally of the Empire were strikingly called to the attention of the world.

● The time has passed when only the wines of France and Portugal and Spain and Italy were meet for royal recognition. There are Empire wines from South Africa and Australia and Canada which are gradually finding markets in many parts of the world. Those who know them at their best find that they fulfil all requirements of much more expensive wines. It is true the Australian wine differs from the French wine as much as the kangaroo differs from the Gallic cock. But who is to say it is inferior?

VARSITY HAS GOOD PROGRAM FOR ATHLETES

Officials to Have Many Students Entered in Campus Sports

Alm of University of Alberta athletic officials—to have as many students as possible actively competing in sports—is rapidly reaching fulfillment, judging from athletic activity currently in evidence on the campus.

Student interest is at present centered on progress of the senior football's threatened invasion of the Pacific coast. Interfaculty football will wind up its fall schedule next Saturday afternoon, when Arts-Ag.-Law and Science forces are scheduled to tangle in a one-game play-off.

Although both women's and men's senior basketball teams will probably not commence their respective playing schedules until after Christmas vacation, both squads are holding strenuous workouts under direction of Coach Doug McIntyre. Women's house league hoop contests are being staged in Athabasca gymnasium Thursday evenings.

Decision to inaugurate an interfaculty swimming meet was made by club officials recently. The contest will be staged in January and should serve to uncover new talent for the intercollegiate swimming tourney to be held in Saskatoon in February. Both men and women candidates are practicing every Wednesday evening, the former at the Y. M. C. A. pool, the latter on Y. W. C. A. premises.

Soccer, revived on the campus this fall, has a large following. A game has been arranged for Saturday afternoon next between a student eleven and a team picked from the university staff.

Boxing and wrestling is becoming increasingly popular on the campus this year. Boxing Coach Wally Beaumont has a squad of 35 leather pushers turning out Monday and Thursday afternoons for workouts in St. Joseph's college gymnasium. Wrestling ranks are also large.

Badminton club is meeting Wednesday, Friday and Sunday evenings on their courts in Athabasca gymnasium.

Senior hockey training will commence immediately upon the return of Coach Alan Wilson and his football team from the coast. Varsity's hockey plans are not definite as the Edmonton senior loop, of which the college item is a member, is not organized as yet. The U. of A. puckisters may become allied with a western intercollegiate league if finances permit.

Women's hockey candidates, also under the direction of Alan Wilson, are holding pre-season workout in the Varsity stadium Friday afternoons.

have the play stopped when the ball carrier, while falling, would shoot the sphere out to a trailing man who would advance it farther. It was this open play that bothered Varsity and took hard work to stop. Meralomas made yards three times from fake kicks. Kramer and Zender, though they shone in other departments were "suckers" for this play. Meralomas made eight first downs to Edmonton's three. Edmonton tried two forward passes, one incomplete and one intercepted. Coach A. L. Wilson stated after the game that his team would do much better tomorrow now they had experienced the tricky field and play of Meralomas. He expects to make up this one touchdown.

CIVIL SERVICE SEXTET FORMED

At an enthusiastic gathering held in the parliament buildings Monday evening, plans were made for the organization of the Civil Service hockey team for the coming year.

The following officers and executives were elected for the coming year: G. Ward, president; H. Clark, secretary-treasurer.

The executive is composed of Messrs. Linden, Edwards, Phillips, Ibbetson and Shaver, with J. F. Macdonald, representative to the Alberta Hockey Association.

Plans have been laid for a bigger and better team than ever this year and an invitation is extended to all Civil Servants with a view to making a place on the intermediate team.

The Name that Changed a Million Men to Made-to-Measure Clothes . . .

● For 25 years the Tip Top designers, cutters and tailors have been creating clothes for Canadian men. From a modest beginning, we pioneered popular-priced custom tailoring, and today make more garments to individual measure than any other half dozen tailors in the country. By educating Canadian men to the undeniable advantages of wearing made-to-measure clothes, we have in the past quarter century literally changed the buying habits of over a million men.

● Furthermore, when you come to Tip Top Tailors you not only benefit from our experience as tailors, but you choose from finer woollens, wider variety of styles, patterns and colors, than at any other store in the country, at one single price, $24.50—every garment individually hand-cut and tailored to measure in true custom manner—and satisfaction guaranteed.

LEAFS-WINGS TIE IN HOCKEY TILT

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 2—A small army of National Hockey League veterans and a sprinkling of rookies failed to produce a single tally for the benefit of a crowd of 4,000 that watched them in action here last night. It was an exhibition affray sponsored by the Windsor Kiwanis club and featuring Detroit Red Wings against Toronto Maple Leafs.

The teams declared a truce at the end of 60 minutes of puck chasing with a scoreless tie as the outcome. Each team had 18 players in uniform. Detroit had two goal tenders, four defence men and four sets of forwards. Toronto used only one goalie, five defence men and four sets of forwards.

Bruins Black Cat Good Luck Mascot

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Nov. 2—Ownership of a black cat, destined to be the good luck mascot of Boston Bruins, had not been established last night. Since it followed Art Ross, Bruins manager, into his hotel room here yesterday the pet has been kept at the hotel awaiting someone to prove ownership.

If the owner appears, permission will be asked to ship the cat to Boston Saturday. Failing such identification by that time, the cat will be shipped then anyway. Any one proving ownership will have all his expenses paid to Boston to see the Bruins perform in the National Hockey League playdowns, if they reach that stage with the help of their new mascot.

EARLY GAINS PARED DOWN AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The stock market pushed up at a brisk rate in early dealings today but late profit taking pared most extreme advances of 1 to 2 or more points and the activity slowed down appreciably. Specialties led the upturn, although other groups displayed an improved tone. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 640,000 shares.

Broomhall

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Liverpool reported a better demand for C.I.F. wheat yesterday with the continent also bidding for Australians and Plates. Sales were made to England, duty included, as follows: Rosa Fe Jan.-Feb. 73½ cents, April 75½c. No. 4 Manitobas shipping 79c and No. 1 Manitobas afloat 86c, both Vancouvers. Broomhall's statistics on total North American wheat and flour shipments since August 1 to the end of October shows 52,322,000 bushels actually cleared, of which about 7,500,000 was of U.S. wheat and flour, leaving 45,000,000 shipped out of Canada without including the 4,000,000 shipped into the U.S. for consumption, duty paid, making nearly 50,000,000 bushels in 13 weeks of slow business against keen Argentine competition. It is not likely that competition will become any less keen, but many European countries will have used a large proportion of their own crops by the middle of winter, so that the demand from Europe is expected to increase considerably early next year.

SMART RALLY ON MINE MART

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—The mining section of the Toronto Exchange rallied smartly today, led by a better market for the Canadian gold shares on the New York market.

EDMONTON STOCKYARDS, Nov. 2—Receipts today were 355 cattle, 84 calves, 112 hogs and 63 sheep.

The cattle market this morning was slow and draggy, with salesmen asking steady prices but finding it difficult to make sales. There were few bids except on choice kinds, which were readily moved. Calves, particularly heavy kinds, were hard to move. Following are quotations:—

Good-choice heifers	2.25	to	2.75

Good-choice cows	1.50	to	1.75

Canners and cutters	.50	to	.75
Bulls	.75	to	1.25
STOCKERS—
Good steers-heifers	1.50	to	2.00
Plain kinds	.75	to	1.25
CALVES—
Good-choice light	3.75	to	3.50
Common to medium	1.00	to	2.50

Hogs showed a weaker undertone, trucked-in selling at $6.65 for the bacons.

The lamb market was steady and unchanged.

AT CALGARY

CALGARY, Nov. 2—Receipts Thursday: 189 cattle, 79 calves, 1,229 hogs and 159 sheep and lambs. On Friday, 345 cattle, 24 calves, 19 hogs and five sheep.

The cattle market opened slow, leftovers being mostly cleaned up. Hogs sold at yesterday's decline, selects $7.25, bacons $6.75 and butchers $6.25, off trucks.

Cattle—Good to choice butcher steers $3.75-$3, common to medium steers $1.75-$2.50, common to medium butcher heifers, $1-$1.60.

UPWARD TREND CONTINUES ON WHEAT MARKET

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2.—The upward trend continued on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today as wheat futures prices, influenced by advancing markets elsewhere, were strong throughout an active session. Values closed 1⅜ cents higher. The December future closed at 78⅛ and May 83 cents.

Moderate export sales of Canadian wheat estimated at 500,000 bushels also was a factor in the upturn.

All outside markets were strong, Liverpool prices closed ¾-⅞d higher and Buenos Aires at noon was ⅞-1⅜ cents up. Chicago also advanced more than a cent.

Despite country deliveries yesterday of 1,300,000 bushels of new-crop wheat, hedging pressure was not heavy and all offerings were easily absorbed. Eastern and southern interests offered good support to the market.

THE dodo (inhabited the island of Mauritius, in the Indian Ocean, east of Madascar. When the Portuguese discovered the island in 1507, the birds were numerous. For some time their unpalatable flesh saved them from extinction, but when hogs were introduced on the island, the dodo soon disappeared. The hogs ate the young and the eggs.

FAMOUS FOOTBALL FEATS!

MANY were the sensational deeds Mrs. Grange's red-headed son, Harold, pulled off on the gridiron for Illinois. But probably his greatest day's performance was turned in against Michigan in 1924.

The Wolverines had trained for months to stop Red. So confident were they that they directed the opening kickoff right into his hands. Red promptly galloped 90 yards to a touchdown.

Four more counters he scored before the game was 12 minutes old—runs of 65, 55 and 45 yards from scrimmage. He played a total of 41 minutes that afternoon and, before he had finished, had run up a total of five touchdowns, passed 40 yards to 15 men and for another, and gained a total of 402 yards, a feat never since equaled.

In Fine Repp or Tapestry

Distinguished Three-Piece Ensembles

The grace of line, the luxurious comfort, and the smart coverings all point to the unmistakable fact that these chesterfield suites were made to sell at much higher prices. Make a selection from coverings of novel repp, in handsome 'slubb' weaves and rich coverings . . . from tapestries of a truly modern motif: florals of rich tone and design . . . from hard-wearing mohairs, cushioned with tapestries. Some of these suites comprise wing chairs in place of button-back chairs. All have show-wood fronts of solid walnut. Usually $159.00 to $175.00.
